Major Legislation Will Be Delayed By Adjournment

WASHINGTON (AP)—Flushed with adjournment fever, Congress is getting ready to lock the cold storage vault on a dozen major administration legislative proposals on its way out of town.

After a huddle with Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen Monday, House Speaker John W. McCormack announced a quelling goal of Oct. 22. He said the final curtain might be pulled even before then.

Later, McCormack and Mansfield met at the White House with President Johnson and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey to discuss the form of such legislation as the demonstration cities bill, unemployment com-

Rhodes Eyes Need of Jobs For Young

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes today described as Ohio's severest challenge the broadening and strengthening of programs that will produce jobs for young people.

Rhodes, in remarks prepared for delivery at the Ohio Baptist Convention, added: "It is only through a job that a boy or girl, man or woman finds and retains dignity and decency."

He stressed that education is a vital part of efforts to create a more favorable employment climate. "Ohio must move on every front to broaden the base of all educational endeavors through the elementary school up through the graduate schools... we are preparing now and must continue preparing for the future generation which is just ahead of us on the Ohio horizon," he said.

GE Strike Threat Grows Despite Government Effort

By NEIL GILBRIDE
WASHINGTON (AP)—The threat of a strike against giant General Electric Co. heightened today despite intensified efforts of government officials who fear a walkout would hurt the Viet Nam war effort.

"It is unfortunate that this company has not moved an inch," said Paul Jennings, President of the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers.

"I think it is rather obvious that if there is no movement there is going to be a strike," Jennings added.

"No progress" was the report of Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor after more than two hours of separate meetings with both sides Monday night.

Further talks are scheduled today.

pensation, truth in packaging and the finding of Teacher Corps salaries.

Even if the Democratic leaders succeed in getting these whipped into shape, the election year Congress will leave behind a sizable number of administration measures.

The Senate gave Johnson some trouble with his spending budget when it passed Monday a $4.4-billion higher education bill ballooned $1.1 billion beyond his requests. The actual appropriations, however, remain to be determined in a later catch-all money bill.

In acting on the measure the Senate scuttled Johnson's request for District of Columbia home rule, refusing to limit a filibuster threatened but never started by Southerners against an elective government in a city 63 per cent Negro in population.

This and some other issues were left behind which Johnson may try to ignite in 1967.

These include the civil rights bill and the measure to eliminate state bans on the union shop — both killed by the Senate.

A gun control bill, true in lending and at least three or four health programs the President recommended are going in the deep freeze, along with a Senate-passed wild rivers measure.

Johnson's proposed election law reforms, electoral college changes and four-year terms for House members got nowhere. Congressional redistricting was left for 1967.

The President talked about easing East-West trade restrictions and the House responded by voting to prohibit bargain-price sales of U.S. farm commodities to nations that trade with North Viet Nam or Cuba. This has hung up food for peace legislation, although it probably will be rescued before adjournment.

Congress paid no attention at all to a presidential recommendation to boost service taxes to provide more revenue for highway building.

Some 80,000 members of Jennings' union are scheduled to strike at 12:01 a.m. Monday if the dispute over a new contract is not settled. Another 40,000 members of 10 other unions negotiating with the company also have threatened to strike.

General Electric in its approximately 160 plants around the nation makes a multitude of products ranging from light bulbs to such weapons of war as jet fighter plane and helicopter engines, bomb sights, cannons and machine guns.

GE workers involved in the negotiations now average about $2.80 per hour in wages and $3.25 when the value of fringe benefits is added.

The union's chief demands include a bigger cost-of-living wage increase and binding arbitration for settling grievances, which it said now frequently lead to strikes.

Soviets Offer Site to U.S.

New Embassy Sought In Downtown Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government has offered the United States a site in downtown Moscow to build a new embassy but U.S. officials are not too keen on it.

They hope they may have some choice of other sites in the same general area, close to the U.S. ambassador's residence and the Soviet Foreign Ministry.

American diplomats here and Soviet diplomats in Washington have been seeking to build larger embassies with reciprocity demanded on both sides. Negotiations on sites have been tedious.

The U.S. government came up more than two months ago with a possible site for a new Soviet embassy in Washington, the 13-acre site formerly occupied by the Mt. Alto Veterans Hospital, recently closed.

After Soviet diplomats had looked at it, Moscow suggested a site to U.S. diplomats.

It meets one important American specification by being reasonably close to Spaso House, where the U.S. ambassador lives within four blocks of the Foreign Ministry.

The location apparently is not so large or in such a good neighborhood as the Americans would like.

The present U.S. Embassy building was erected about 15 years ago as an apartment house. Administrative offices occupy the ground floor, apartments for embassy personnel are on the second through seventh floors, and the main offices are on three top floors.

Ohio Skies Mostly Clear

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather:

A massive high pressure system centered over the southern Plains States, coupled with an intense low in the James Bay region, and brought generally fair weather to the state this morning.

In the northwestern counties, however, partly cloudy skies prevailed.

Fairly brisk winds helped to keep the temperatures from dropping to low and readings in the 40s generally prevailed at sunrise.

With clear skies and diminishing winds in store for the state tonight, temperatures will drop to the upper 30s and low 40s.

Ohio State now has the nation's largest Army ROTC cadet corps, all voluntary.

Good Fortune Smiles on Housewife

GRAND HAVEN, Mich. (AP) — It reads like a movie script: A small-town housewife who was an adopted child inherits $1.6 million from an uncle she never knew.

But it actually happened to Rosemary Jelneck, 42, who, although she's elated, says: "We're going to go on living just as we always have."

Until recently, Mrs. Jelneck's life centered on her husband, their two sons and the two-story white, frame house with a fireplace in which she and her family live in Swartz Creek, a southeastern Michigan community of 3,000.

But Monday Probate Judge Fred Niles of Ottawa County ruled Mrs. Jelneck was the only heir to the estate of Arthur S. Kruse, a Chicago insurance executive.

Kruse was a man "I cannot recall I ever heard of," said Mrs. Jelneck, who several weeks ago had no idea she was an adopted child and a niece of Kruse, 67, a bachelor who died near here last March.

Mrs. Jelneck is the child of Kruse's sister, Ann Corbin, who put her up for adoption almost immediately after her birth in 1924. When Kruse left no will, the estate was expected to be divided among six cousins, but then the administrators found Mrs. Jelneck.

Kruse, a vice president of the Combined Insurance Company of America, capitalized on 100 shares of stock bought for $5,000 in 1951. Stock splits and dividends increased his holdings over the next 15 years.

Gordon Cunningham, Mrs. Jelneck's attorney, describes her and her husband, Calvin, a petroleum products dealer, as "sort of average citizens" in the "uppermiddle income" bracket with Jelneck "successful in his own business."

Mrs. Jelneck may not receive the money until late next year or early 1968, he said.

"There's state and federal taxes to be taken care of," he said. "It will be a year to 15 months from now until the matter is completed." The taxes will take "probably better than 50 per cent" of the estate, Cunningham said. "It will be a substantial amount."

Saxbe Lists Most Wanted Men in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe and other state officials came up today with a list of the state's most wanted fugitives.

But it was only half the size of the famous FBI list.

Saxbe and Martin W. Moseley Jr., superintendent of the Bureau of Criminal Identification, listed these five men:

Howard Swiney, 45, wanted by Toledo police for assault with a deadly weapon. Swiney is 5-feet-7, weighs 136, has black hair and brown eyes.

William J. Wallace, 36, wanted by Cincinnati police for robbery and assault with intent to kill. He is 5-9, weighs 190, has black hair and brown eyes. He has several tattoos on his arms, including a black panther on his left forearm.

Jack Wethington, 32, wanted by Cincinnati police for assault with intent to kill and robbery. He is 5-11, weighs 168, has blond hair, blue eyes.

Donald James Farrell, 25, sought by police in Warrensville Heights on charges of felonious assault. He is 5-8, weighs 150, has brown hair and brown eyes.

Billy Gene Rhoades, being sought as a parole violator. Prior to his release, he was serving a 6-1/2 year sentence for armed robbery, kidnapping, and shooting with intent to kill.

France, Soviet Okay Plan

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union and France have signed an agreement for joint nuclear research a 70-billion electron-volt accelerator under construction near Moscow, an official announcement said today.

The signing of the document confirmed an agreement reached Oct. 1 for French participation in research at the accelerator being built in the town of Serpukhov.

France will provide a "miracle" research chamber with a capacity of 6,000 liters (about 1,600 gallons) of liquid hydrogen, the Soviet news agency Tass said.

The chamber, to be put into operation in 1969, will be used to study "the interaction of elementary particles," Tass said. Soviet equipment will provide a powerful beam of protons for the experiments.

British Expected To Make New Appeal for Viet Peace

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Despite Communist rejections, British Foreign Secretary Georg Brown was expected to make a new appeal for support for his Viet Nam Peace plan today in a general policy speech before the U.N. General Assembly.

North Viet Nam and red China rejected Brown's peace proposals in broadcasts today and repeated their demand for withdrawal of U.S. troops.

The foreign secretary sought American reaction to his plan at day with U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg.

Ground Fighting In Viet Light

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A diehard band of Viet Cong guerrillas answered an American demand to surrender with a hail of bullets today, and an encircling force of U.S. helicopter troops wiped them out.

A U.S. spokesman said 13 Division cavalrymen killed 33 Viet Cong and captured eight in a five-hour engagement near the central coast 28 miles northwest of Qui Nhon.

It was the only ground action of any size reported as U.S. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara met with leaders of South Viet Nam's military government to hear their assessment of how the war is going.

The air offensive against North Viet Nam showed no let-up with American pilots flying 116 strike missions Monday. They concentrated on Communist truck convoys.

The fight against the diehard Viet Cong on the marshy coastland began at dawn, a U.S. spokesman gave this account of the action:

A helicopter-borne unit of the 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division spotted five Viet Cong in a rice paddy. The helicopters landed a platoon of cavalrymen who killed four Viet Cong and took one prisoner.

Helicopters flew in two more companies — about 350 men — of U.S. cavalrymen who formed a noose around other Viet Cong guerrillas spotted in the area. A U.S. officer called on the encircled Viet Cong, described as a "local force," to surrender.

The Viet Cong replied with a hail of bullets. In the ensuing firefight, the helicopter troops killed 29 more Viet Cong, captured seven more, and seized 15 suspects.

The engagement was part of the cavalry's Operation Irving, which began Oct. 2 as a combined action on the central coast with South Vietnamese forces on the west flank and South Korean troops pushing up from the south.

In the 10 days of fighting, the U.S. cavalrymen have reported killing 470 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong and taking 503 prisoners.

Total enemy casualties claimed for the operation are 878 killed and 794 prisoners, the largest number of captives of the war.

McNamara spent the second day of his visit in a round of briefings and conferences with South Viet Nam's chief of state, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, the nation's prime minister, Air Vice Marshal Nguyen Cao Ky, and other officials. McNamara will tour the war fronts Wednesday and Thursday, visiting U.S. forces in the field and flying out for a quick trip to a U.S. 7th Fleet aircraft carrier in the Gulf of Tonkin.

In the air Monday, U.S. bombers kept up their pounding of the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam. A spokesman said American pilots flew eight missions in the buffer zone against Communist supply points, structures and fortifications.

Police picked up four teen-age boys who allegedly bought the dynamite and another youth who they said sold the explosive, which had been stored in his locker.

Police found 29 sticks of the explosive in the woods later and one stick in each boy's home.

Authorities said the dynamite was taken from a resident who used it for blasting stumps.

Probation Ordered
TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Three years' probation is the sentence of Mrs. Mary Middleton, 28, who pleaded guilty of first-degree manslaughter in the stabbing death last March 19 of her estranged husband, Rufus.

Judge Frank Wiley granted leniency Monday after hearing Mrs. Middleton's attorney describe how Middleton allegedly forced the defendant to go with him an assaulted her before he was slain.

British Actor Dies
LONDON (AP) — British actor Wilfred Lawson, 65, died at his London home Monday night. He was believed to have suffered a heart attack.

Lawson appeared many times in the United States. In 1947 he toured the States as Edward Moulton-Barrett in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street."

Goldberg later told newsmen the United States was giving "very thoughtful consideration" to Brown's proposals.

Brown arranged to confer a second time with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko later today in an apparent effort to get the Soviet Union to soften its position on his peace efforts.

Gromyko on Saturday turned thumbs down on Brown's proposal that the Soviet Union and Britain, as co-chairmen of the 1954 Geneva conference on Indochina, set up a new Geneva parity to negotiate peace for Viet Nam.

The Soviet Union contended that it could not act unless North Viet Nam requested it to do so.

Brown unveiled his peace plan last Thursday at the British Labor Party's annual convention in Brighton, England.

It calls for:

War Widow Wins $195,087 Pool

LONDON (AP) — A London war widow learned today she had won $195,087 on a soccer pool.

Jessie Court, 54, a cook in a snack bar, entered a pool in which contestants try to pick the games. She picked eight of the nine tied games Saturday.

Mrs. Court, whose husband was killed in 1941 while serving with the Royal Air Force, said: "I have been doing the pools for more than 10 years, but the most I ever got back before was a few shillings. Now I think I will give up work."

Police Halt New Business

BEAVERTON, Ore. (AP) — A youngster's business was nearly booming before police stepped in at an elementary school.

The caller was right, and the dynamite was for sale.

Police picked up four teen-age boys who allegedly bought the dynamite and another youth who they said sold the explosive, which had been stored in his locker.

Police found 29 sticks of the explosive in the woods later and one stick in each boy's home.

Authorities said the dynamite was taken from a resident who used it for blasting stumps.

State Board Member Seeks Resignation of Vo-Ed Head

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Cleveland member of the State Board of Education shocked his colleagues Monday by demanding the resignation of Ohio's vocational education director.

A nine-year member of the board said the remarks by Francis Gaul against Byrl Shoemaker, voted director in the Ohio Department of Education, marked the first time he ever heard such a direct attack on a staff member at a meeting of the school board.

Gaul's heated demand came as the board was reviewing and approving a priority list for $7 million in vocational education funds that he contended discrimination against the state's biggest city.

A joint vocational district for Athens, Hocking and Perry counties rated the top priority for its request for $248,787.

Next in order the way priorities were approved came Greene County $1.1 million; eastern Franklin County $1.4 million; Ashtabula County $1.6 million; Muskingum County $932,000; and Sandusky County $1.3 million.

Gaul protested action toward formation of a joint vocational district in the Cleveland suburbs outside the city proper.

State Supt. Martin Susskind said later this study had been suspended pending clarification.

The Clevelanders opened his

Talks Lead To Cautious Optimism

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union have agreed to make an effort for early accord on a treaty banning the spread of nuclear weapons, but the key issue blocking the pact remains unresolved.

U.S. officials undertook today to downgrade somewhat a burst of optimism set off Monday night by comments made by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko after talks with President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Gromyko said afterward that "it looks like both countries are striving to reach agreement," and U.S. sources said that "some of the underbrush" had been cleared away.

The European Allies, particularly West German diplomats, were being told that progress on the nonproliferation treaty did not mean the United States was ruling out formation of a North Atlantic Treaty Organization nuclear weapons system sometime in the future.

Gromyko was reportedly told Monday in a dinner meeting at the State Department that any non-proliferation formula toward the United States agreed would have to be thoroughly talked out with the NATO Allies.

The key issue is whether the treaty would be written in such a way as to prohibit a NATO nuclear force in which the Germans would share some kind of access to nuclear weapons provided by the United States or other NATO allies. The U.S.S.R. has insisted on a treaty which would prevent that. The United States has said that was not real proliferation of nuclear weapons since the system would be under international control with a U.S. veto.

Gromyko conferred for an hour and 45 minutes Monday with Johnson, Rusk and other U.S. officials. He had a working dinner with Rusk and other State Department authorities. Today he returned to New York.

Johnson is known to hope that with improving U.S.-Soviet relations, the Soviet government will eventually be persuaded to play a decisive role in bringing the Vietnamese war to an end.

The Soviets apparently hope that if a nonproliferation treaty can be concluded it will effectively prevent the United States from turning nuclear weapons over to West Germany. Moscow has made a major issue of this problem for years.

U.S. officials said today that in Monday night's discussions attack on the vocational program by moving that Cleveland get priority for federal funds next year if it doesn't get all its requested funds this year.

The $7 million or so Ohio expects in federal money this year would cover the six districts rated top priority and only about half the $1.4 million Cleveland is seeking for facilities at eight schools.

Funds requested by Cincinnati, Columbus, Toledo, Youngstown and 23 other districts would have to wait.

Board member Wayne Shaffer of Bryan suggested the 50-50 matching formula be changed because it works out that a few districts able to match federal funds dollar for dollar get all the vocational education money.

In other action, the board deferred the action it had been expected to take to approve a nonemergency school bus buying plan similar to the emergency plan used this summer to obtain badly needed new buses.

Essex withdrew the proposal saying he wanted a formal opinion from the attorney general's office on what effect adoption of the new plan might have on a pending court case.

Bus body and chassis dealers sued, challenging the centralized purchasing plan and now are appealing.

Ground Fighting In Viet Light

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A diehard band of Viet Cong guerrillas answered an American demand to surrender with a hail of bullets today, and an encircling force of U.S. helicopter troops wiped them out.

A U.S. spokesman said 1st Division cavalrymen killed 33 Viet Cong and captured eight in a five-hour engagement near the central coast 28 miles north-west of Qui Nhon.

It was the only ground action of any size reported as U.S. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara met with leaders of South Viet Nam's military government to hear their assessment of how the war is going.

The air offensive against North Viet Nam showed no let-up with American pilots flying 116 strike missions Monday. They concentrated on Communist truck convoys.

The fight against the diehard Viet Cong on the marshy coastal plain began at dawn, a U.S. spokesman gave this account of the action:

A helicopter-borne unit of the 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division spotted five Viet Cong in a rice paddy. The helicopters landed a platoon of cavalrymen who killed four Viet Cong and took one prisoner.

Helicopters flew in two more companies — about 350 men — of U.S. cavalrymen who formed a noose around other Viet Cong guerrillas spotted in the area. A U.S. officer called on the encircled Viet Cong, described as a "local force," to surrender.

The Viet Cong replied with a hail of bullets. In the ensuing firefight, the helicopter troops killed 29 more Viet Cong, captured seven more, and seized 15 suspects.

The engagement was part of the cavalry's Operation Irving, which began Oct. 2 as a combined action on the central sea-coast with South Vietnamese forces on the west flank and South Korean troops pushing up from the south.

In the 10 days of fighting, the U.S. cavalrymen have reported killing 470 North Vietnamese.

British Actor Dies

LONDON (AP) — British actor Wilfred Lawson, 65, died at his London home Monday night. He was believed to have suffered a heart attack.

Lawson appeared many times in the United States. In 1947 he toured the States as Edward Moulton-Barrett in "The Barrets of Wimpole Street."

that it could not act unless North Viet Nam requested it to do so.

Brown unveiled his peace plan last Thursday at the British Labor Party's annual convention in Brighton, England.

It calls for: A peace conference with the Viet Cong participating. A halt to the bombing of North Viet Nam and a pullback of United States and North Viet Nam forces.

British Expected To Make New Appeal for Viet Peace

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Despite Communist rejections, British Foreign Secretary Georg Brown was expected to make a new appeal for support for his Viet Nam Peace plan today in a general policy speech before the U.N. General Assembly.

North Viet Nam and red China rejected Brown's peace proposals in broadcasts today and repeated their demand for withdrawal of U.S. troops.

The foreign secretary sought American reaction to his plan at day with U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg.

Goldberg later told newsmen the United States was giving "very thoughtful consideration" to Brown's proposals.

Brown arranged to confer a second time with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko later today in an apparent effort to get the Soviet Union to soften its position on his peace efforts.

Gromyko on Saturday turned thumbs down on Brown's proposal that the Soviet Union and Britain, as co-chairmen of the 1954 Geneva conference on Indo China, set up a new Geneva parity to negotiate peace for Viet Nam.

Talks Lead To Cautious Optimism

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union have agreed to make an effort for early accord on a treaty banning the spread of nuclear weapons, but the key issue blocking the pact remains unresolved.

U.S. officials undertook today to downgrade somewhat a burst of optimism set off Monday night by comments made by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko after talks with President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Gromyko said afterward that "it looks like both countries are striving to reach agreement," and U.S. sources said that "some of the underbrush" had been cleared away.

The European Allies, particularly West German diplomats, were being told that progress on the nonproliferation treaty did not mean the United States was ruling out formation of a North Atlantic Treaty Organization nuclear weapons system sometime in the future.

Gromyko was reportedly told Monday in a dinner meeting at the State Department that any non-proliferation formula to which the United States agreed would have to be thoroughly talked out with the NATO Allies.

The key issue is whether the treaty would be written in such a way as to prohibit a NATO nuclear force in which the Germans would share some kind of access to nuclear weapons provided by the United States or other NATO allies. The U.S.S.R. has insisted on a treaty which would prevent that. The United States has said that was not real proliferation of nuclear weapons since the system would be under international control with a U.S. veto.

Gromyko conferred for an hour and 45 minutes Monday with Johnson, Rusk and other U.S. officials. He had a working dinner with Rusk and other State Department authorities. Today he returned to New York.

Johnson is known to hope that with improving U.S.-Soviet relations, the Soviet government will eventually be persuaded to play a decisive role in bringing the Vietnamese war to an end.

The Soviets apparently hope that if a nonproliferation treaty can be concluded it will effectively prevent the United States from turning nuclear weapons over to West Germany. Moscow has made a major issue of this problem for years.

U.S. officials said today that in Monday night's discussions

War Widow Wins $195,087 Pool

LONDON (AP) — A London war widow learned today she had won $195,087 on a soccer pool.

Jessie Court, 54, a cook in a snack bar, entered a pool in which contestants try to pick the games. She picked eight of the nine tied games Saturday.

Mrs. Court, whose husband was killed in 1941 while serving with the Royal Air Force, said: "I have been doing the pools for more than 10 years, but the most I ever got back before was a few shillings. Now I think I will give up work."

Moyers on Move

MANILA (AP) — U.S. presidential press secretary Bill D. Moyers left Manila for Bangkok today and predicted the coming summit meeting would play an "important part" in the settlement of the Viet Nam war.

Moyers, who spent less than 24 hours in the Philippines making arrangements for President Johnson's visit on Oct. 23, said the seven-nation summit would "increase the prospect" of ending the war.

State Board Member Seeks Resignation of Vo-Ed Head

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Cleveland member of the State Board of Education shocked his colleagues Monday by demanding the resignation of Ohio's vocational education director.

A nine-year member of the board said the remarks by Francis Gaul against Byrl Shoemaker, voted director in the Ohio Department of Education, marked the first time he ever heard such a direct attack on a staff member at a meeting of the school board.

Gaul's heated demand came as the board was reviewing and approving a priority list for $7 million in vocational education funds that he contended discrimination against the state's biggest city.

A joint vocational district for Athens, Hocking and Perry counties rated the top priority for its request for $248,787.

Next in order the way priorities were approved came Greene County $1.1 million; eastern Franklin County $1.4 million; Ashtabula County $1.6 million; Muskingum County $932,000; and Sandusky County $1.3 million.

Gaul protested action toward formation of a joint vocational district in the Cleveland suburbs outside the city proper.

State Supt. Martin Sussex said later this study had been suspended pending clarification.

The Clevelanders opened his attack on the vocational program by moving that Cleveland get priority for federal funds next year if it doesn't get all its requested funds this year.

The $7 million or so Ohio expects in federal money this year would cover the six districts rated top priority and only about half the $1.4 million Cleveland is seeking for facilities at eight schools.

Funds requested by Cincinnati, Columbus, Toledo, Youngstown and 23 other districts would have to wait.

Board member Wayne Shaffer of Bryan suggested the 50-50 matching formula be changed because it works out that a few districts able to match federal funds dollar for dollar get all the vocational education money.

In other action, the board deferred the action it had been expected to take to approve a nonemergency school bus buying plan similar to the emergency plan used this summer to obtain badly needed new buses.

Excess withdrew the proposal saying he wanted a formal opinion from the attorney general's office on what effect adoption of the new plan might have on a pending court case.

Bus body and chassis dealers sued, challenging the centralized purchasing plan and now are appealing.

Speeding Motorist Forfeits $100 in Municipal Court

A Cleveland motorist forfeited a $100 bond in Circleville Municipal Court when he failed to appear to answer a charge of speeding 75 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Raymond McDonald, 22, was cited for the second time this year for exceeding the speed limit. The arresting officer noted McDonald has been convicted of a number of traffic violations.

Two motorists were fined $150 and costs, sentenced to three days in the county jail and had their driving rights suspended for six months, when they were found guilty of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicants.

They were David Gillis, 40, 712 Maplewood Ave., who entered a plea of no contest to the charge filed by city police, and Jack Blake, 43, Sterling, Ohio, cited by the Ohio State Highway Patrol. Blake pleaded guilty.

Jersey Wayne Barid, 21, Detroit, Mich., was fined $100 and costs by Judge Sterling Lamb for permitting an unlicensed person to use his operator's license. The judge suspended $50 of the fine.

Jackie V. Farmer, 26, Hampton, Tenn., who used Baird's license, was also fined $100 and costs with $50 of the fine suspended.

Norman J. Culwell, 24, Columbus, forfeited a $60 bond when he failed to appear for a court hearing. He was charged with reckless operation.

Robert Carisle, 20, Henderson, W. Va.; forfeited a $30 bond for failure to heed a stop sign.

The State Highway Patrol's radar traffic control device was in operation yesterday on Route 23, resulting in an unusually heavy docket. Speeding motorists cited were:

Loren Johnson, 33, Charleston, W. Va.; James Mardin, 21, Columbus; Frank Pino, 28, 470 John St.; James Davis, 42, Wellston; Rome L. Shoemaker, 36, New Boston; David E. Robinson, 24, Warren, Mich.; Clarence Rannebager, 63, Worthington; $10 and costs for speeding 70 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Robert Smith, 35, Roanoke, Va.; $10 and costs for speeding 56 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Kenneth Kirkland, 31, Farmerville, N. C.; $15 and costs for speeding 62 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Lester C. Morgan, 42, Vanceburg, Ky.; $15 and costs for speeding 74 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Richard Pimm, 25, New Albany; $15 and costs for speeding 60 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Oscar Dodson, 37, Boston, Va.; $10 and costs for speeding 57 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Dennis Horner, 26, Sciotoville; $20 and costs for speeding 76 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

George Turner, 25, Boswell, Pa.; $7 and costs for speeding 57 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Albert J. Walters, 21, Lockbourne Air Force Base; $19 bond forfeiture for speeding 70 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Reno Ingram, 22, Cambridge, $14 bond forfeiture for speeding 55 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Ronald Haymond, 32, Shiloh; $9 and costs for speeding 58 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Lowell Derrnell, 26, South Shore, Ky.; Loren Johnson, 33, Charleston, W. Va.; $10 and costs for speeding 60 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Russell Montgomery, 28, Lucasville; $15 and costs for failure to heed a stop sign.

Mike Goebel, 26, Columbus; $11 and costs for speeding 71 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Scores of Police Go Lion Hunting

LILLE, France (AP) — Scores of police went lion hunting along a superhighway in France today after a circus van and a truck collided and six lions escaped.

Circus hands recaptured two of the beasts. Another attacked a gendarme and was shot. The police moved cautiously into a forest area near the highway and rounded up the other three lions.

Pistol Shot Fatal

IRONTON, Ohio (AP) — A 16-year-old Lawrence County boy died Monday night of a bullet wound in the head. He and a 17-year-old companion were playing with a .32 caliber pistol when it accidentally discharged. Sheriff Carl E. Rose said the victim, Curtis A. Lindsey III, of Burlington, was shot in the left eye.

Talks Lead

(Continued from Page One) there had been no agreement on the wording of a treaty and that the critical issue remained unresolved.

U.S. - Soviet negotiations toward a treaty on nonproliferation are expected to resume in New York within a few days. The likely U.S. negotiator is William C. Foster, head of the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency.

In general, under such a nonproliferation treaty, the nuclear countries would agree not to sell or give away nuclear weapons. And under the international pact, non-nuclear countries would agree not to acquire such weapons.

Gromyko's meetings with Johnson and Rusk provided fresh evidence that a new era of friendly relations is opening up between the United States and the Soviet Union.

They could lead, in addition to the nuclear nonproliferation pact, to parallel reductions of American and Soviet forces in Europe, to increased U.S.-Soviet trade and travel and perhaps, as officials here hope, to eventual Soviet peace-making efforts in the war in Viet Nam.

Asked Monday night if he had discussed Viet Nam with Johnson at the White House meeting, Gromyko said in reference to his nonproliferation comment "what I said was positive on what we discussed."

Asked if the question of troops in Europe was brought up, he said "I did not mention troops in Europe."

An announcement issued by the White House press office after the conference broke up said only: "The President and Foreign Minister Gromyko had a frank and wide-ranging discussion in a businesslike atmosphere. They discussed a number of subjects of mutual concern."

Contrary to frequent practice the subjects were not disclosed. Also contrary to frequent practice when the President confers with high foreign officials, Gromyko entered and left the White House by a door remote from the lobby where reporters were waiting.

Gromyko made no effort to avoid newsmen as he left the State Department after his 2 1/2-hour dinner meeting with Rusk. Johnson had set the stage for his meeting with Gromyko in a speech in New York three days earlier when he called for reduction of forces in Central Europe, announced a reduction in export controls on East-West trade and said, among other statements clearly intended as overtures for better relations, that he would press for early congressional action on a pending U.S.-Soviet consular agreement.

The President thus went into the meeting Monday in position to emphasize an active U.S. concern with improving relations and to urge that the Soviet government take responsive steps.

The Soviet Union has rebuffed numerous approaches made by other countries, among them Britain and France, to play an active role in peacemaking and it is supply arms and military equipment to North Viet Nam. Nevertheless, American officials say privately they are convinced that the Soviets would like to find some way to bring the war to an end when they think the time is suitable.

Flyers' Meet Postponed

Previously scheduled meeting of the Circleville Flying Assn. for Wednesday evening has been postponed indefinitely.

Essay Contest on 'Peace' Is Sponsored by Lions Club

Youths of Circleville have been given a challenge to develop a plan for world peace by their local Lions Club that could earn one of them a $25,000 education or career assistance grant.

Circleville Lions Club, along with Lions Clubs throughout the world, is sponsoring a world-wide essay contest for youth on the most important subject today. Topic of the competitive essays will be "Peace".

The contest offers $50,000 in total awards, including a $25,000 first prize, eight semi-final world regional awards of $1,000 each and travel expenses for the eight winners to Chicago in July, 1967.

At that time, the first prize winner will be chosen from the eight finalists. Also, more than 20,000 local, district and multiple district awards will be made.

Nolan Sims Jr., president of the local Lions Club, noted today "We are hopeful one of our young people will win this world-wide prestige award."

The contest is open to young people who will be 14, but less than 22 years of age by Jan. 15, 1967.

Winner of the Circleville contest will advance to Lions District 13-J competition in his or her effort to qualify for the multiple district contest, Sims said.

The local club president pointed out that the purpose of the contest is to develop a formula for world peace because the 20,000 Lions Clubs in the world "feel peace is attainable."

Judging will fall into four categories: 75 per cent of the essay's points will be devoted to content, ten per cent to organization, ten per cent to style and five per cent to mechanics.

Sims said that three judges will be appointed to evaluate the entries submitted to the local club. If the local winner can advance through the judging stages up to the world finals he will receive an expense paid trip to Chicago to attend the Lions International 50th Annual Convention for the final judging of his essay in addition to winning the $1,000 award.

Full details of the contest are available from any Lions member or Sims, who resides at 120 W. High St.

Pastor Zehner Named to Child Welfare Board

Pickaway County Commissioners yesterday acted to fill a vacancy on the Child Welfare Board, naming Pastor Carl Zehner of the Circleville Lutheran Church as the fifth member.

Pastor Zehner will complete the unexpired term of Kenneth Shepler, who recently resigned.

Other members of the Child Welfare Board are Ralph Starkey, Mrs. George Hamman III, Mrs. Roger Hedges and Harry Kern.

In other business before the board of commissioners yesterday, Charles Morris submitted a resolution saluting the volunteer firemen of Pickaway County during National Fire Prevention Week.

A letter from Fire Chief Bernard Wolfe of the Circleville Fire Department was read concerning the fire escape constructed at Memorial Hall. The fire escape meets the necessary standards and requirements the chief told the commissioners.

Ag Society Bookkeeper Resigns Post

Pickaway County Agricultural Society is without a secretary-bookkeeper.

Charles Gerhardt, 640 Garden Parkway, submitted his resignation to the board last week with an effective date of Oct. 10. He had held the post since last year when the Fair Board divided the duties of the Fair manager.

Gerhardt said that he was unable to perform all the duties required of him as secretary-bookkeeper due to personal circumstances.

No replacement has been named for the post vacated by Gerhardt's resignation.

Murder Count Filed

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Charles D. Webb, 30, Franklin, has been charged with murder and assault with a deadly weapon as the result of a shooting Saturday night that left his uncle dead and another man injured.

Webb was arrested shortly after Edward (Dink) Powell, 48, Franklin, was shot to death in front of a Franklin tavern. Police said John Chasteen, 18, also suffered a minor head wound during the altercation.

PTO Meet Cancelled

Thursday's meeting of the Pickaway Twp. Parent-Teacher Organization has been cancelled.

New Library Proposal Aired By Pickaway Commissioners

Members of the Pickaway County Library Assn. and the Pickaway County Monumental Assn. met yesterday with commissioners to discuss the possibility of building a new library.

The meeting was called by commissioners Lloyd Melvin.

Boosters To View Grid Films

The Circleville High School Booster Club will meet at Noel's King Boy South at 8 p. m. Wednesday.

Coach Paul Starr will show the films of the Circleville-Miami Trace game.

Prizes awarded during the half-time at the Circleville-Miami Trace game went to the following people: Mrs. Tillie Melson, 616 S. Court Street; William Camp, 535 Green Acre Court; T. D. Stouffer, 1226 S. Pickaway Street; Emmett Ebenback, Route 2, Circleville; and Gerald Majors, 489 E. Franklin Street.

All downtown merchants are again reminded to display the Red and Black flag this Friday when the Circleville Tigers meet the Washington Court House team at Washington Court House. The boosters are asking the flags to be displayed at both the home and away games.

Young Democrats Clear Candidates

The Pickaway County Young Democrats met last night in the Democratic Headquarters on East Main St.

Principal speaker at the meeting was Michael Arton. Democratic candidate for state senator, who spoke on behalf of his candidacy and on high-way safety.

Dick Gerhardt spoke on behalf of Robert Sweeney, a candidate for congresswoman at large from Ohio. Jim Hawthorne represented Ottie Reno at the meeting. Reno is a candidate for the sixth district congressmen.

Another meeting of the young Dems. has been scheduled Oct. 24 beginning at 7:30 p. m. Candidates slated to be present are Dick Toode, candidate for commissioner; Michael Arton and Myrl Shoemaker, candidate for State Representative.

Joan Brink presided at the meeting last night.

Wayne Hines and Charles Morris, who feel the cost of maintaining the antiquated Memorial Hall which presently houses the library is becoming too high.

Commissioners told the library board that there are federal grants available for the construction of a library through the Library Service and Construction Act.

Representing the Library Board yesterday were Mrs. Ray Davis, Mrs. Kermit Dountz, Mrs. Stanley Bowers and Mrs. John Dunlap. Leonard Coffland, president of the monumental Assn. was also present.

THEY all agreed that a study should be made of the proposed move.

Commissioners have written to Congressmen William Harsha and Robert Sweeney and to Senators Frank J. Lausche and Stephen Young concerning the availability of federal funds for the library construction.

They have received answers from all but Young. The first step now will be for the Library Board to contact the State Library Department for further information.

Before any of the funds can be made available, the library board must present plans for a structure.

Commissioner Charles Morris has suggested the board consider tearing down the present building and erecting a new structure at the site. He also noted provisions for parking facilities should be made, as well as provisions for housing the Youth Center.

Speeding Motorist Forfeits $100 in Municipal Court

A Cleveland motorist forfeited a $100 bond in Circleville Municipal Court when he failed to appear to answer a charge of speeding 75 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Raymond McDonald, 22, was cited for the second time this year for exceeding the speed limit. The arresting officer noted McDonald has been convicted of a number of traffic violations.

Two motorists were fined $150 and costs, sentenced to three days in the county jail and had their driving rights suspended for six months, when they were found guilty of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicants.

They were David Gillis, 40, 712 Maplewood Ave., who entered a plea of no contest to the charge filed by city police, and Jack Blake, 43, Sterling, Ohio, cited by the Ohio State Highway Patrol. Blake pleaded guilty.

Jerry Wyne Barid, 21, Detroit, Mich., was fined $100 and costs by Judge Sterling Lamb for permitting an unlicensed person to use his operator's license. The judge suspended $50 of the fine.

Jackie V. Farmer, 26, Hampton, Tenn., who used Baird's license, was also fined $100 and costs with $50 of the fine suspended.

Norman J. Culwell, 24, Columbus, forfeited a $60 bond when he failed to appear for a court hearing. He was charged with reckless operation.

Robert Carisle, 20, Henderson, W. Va.; forfeited a $30 bond for failure to heed a stop sign.

The State Highway Patrol's radar traffic control device was in operation yesterday on Route 23, resulting in an unusually heavy docket. Speeding motorists cited were:

Loren Johnson, 33, Charleston, W. Va.; James Martin, 21, Columbus; Frank Pino, 26, 470 John St.; James Davis, 42, Wellston; Rome L. Shoemaker, 36, New Boston; David E. Robinson, 24, Warren, Mich.; Clarence Rannebager, 63, Worthington; $10 and costs for speeding 70 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Robert Smith, 33, Roanoke, Va.; $10 and costs for speeding 56 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Kenneth Kirkland, 31, Farmerville, N. C.; $15 and costs for speeding 62 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Lester C. Morgan, 42, Vanceburg, Ky.; $15 and costs for speeding 74 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Richard Pimm, 25, New Albany; $15 and costs for speeding 60 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Oscar Dodson, 37, Boston, Va.; $10 and costs for speeding 57 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Dennis Hoerr, 26, Sciotoville; $20 and costs for speeding 76 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

George Turner, 25, Boswell, Pa.; $7 and costs for speeding 57 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Albert J. Walters, 21, Lockbourne Air Force Base; $19 bond forfeiture for speeding 70 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Reno Ingram, 22, Cambridge, $14 bond forfeiture for speeding 55 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Ronald Haymond, 32, Shiloh; $9 and costs for speeding 58 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Lowell Derrall, 26, South Shore, Ky.; Loren Johnson, 33, Charleston, W. Va.; $10 and costs for speeding 60 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Russell Montgomery, 28, Lucasville; $15 and costs for failure to heed a stop sign.

Mike Goebel, 26, Columbus; $11 and costs for speeding 71 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Scores of Police Go Lion Hunting

LILLE, France (AP)—Scores of police went lion hunting along a superhighway in France today after a circus van and a truck collided and six lions escaped.

Circus hands recaptured two of the beasts. Another attacked a gendarme and was shot. The police moved cautiously into a forest area near the highway and rounded up the other three lions.

Pistol Shot Fatal

IRONTON, Ohio (AP)—A 16-year-old Lawrence County boy died Monday night of a bullet wound in the head. He and a 17-year-old companion were playing with a .32 caliber pistol when it accidentally discharged. Sheriff Carl E. Rose said the victim, Curtis A. Lindsey III, of Burlington, was shot in the left eye.

Talks Lead

(Continued from Page One) there had been no agreement on the wording of a treaty and that the critical issue remained unresolved.

U.S.-Soviet negotiations toward a treaty on nonproliferation are expected to resume in New York within a few days. The likely U.S. negotiator is William C. Foster, head of the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency.

In general, under such a nonproliferation treaty, the nuclear countries would agree not to sell or give away nuclear weapons. And under the international pact, non-nuclear countries would agree not to acquire such weapons.

Gromyko's meetings with Johnson and Rusk provided fresh evidence that a new era of friendly relations is opening up between the United States and the Soviet Union.

They could lead, in addition to the nuclear nonproliferation pact, to parallel reductions of American and Soviet forces in Europe, to increased U.S.-Soviet trade and travel and perhaps, as officials here hope, to eventual Soviet peace-making efforts in the war in Viet Nam.

Asked Monday night if he had discussed Viet Nam with Johnson at the White House meeting, Gromyko said in reference to his nonproliferation comment "what I said was positive on what we discussed."

Asked if the question of troops in Europe was brought up, he said "I did not mention troops in Europe."

An announcement issued by the White House press office after the conference broke up said only: "The President and Foreign Minister Gromyko had a frank and wide-ranging discussion in a businesslike atmosphere. They discussed a number of subjects of mutual concern."

Contrary to frequent practice the subjects were not disclosed. Also contrary to frequent practice when the President confers with high foreign officials, Gromyko entered and left the White House by a door remote from the lobby where reporters were waiting.

Gromyko made no effort to avoid newsmen as he left the State Department after his 2 1/2-hour dinner meeting with Rusk. Johnson had set the stage for his meeting with Gromyko in a speech in New York three days earlier when he called for reduction of forces in Central Europe, announced a reduction in export controls on East-West trade and said, among other statements clearly intended as overtures for better relations, that he would press for early congressional action on a pending U.S.-Soviet consular agreement.

The President thus went into the meeting Monday in position to emphasize an active U.S. concern with improving relations and to urge that the Soviet government take responsive steps. The Soviet Union has rebuffed numerous approaches made by other countries, among them Britain and France, to play an active role in peacemaking and it is supply arms and military equipment to North Viet Nam. Nevertheless, American officials say privately they are convinced that the Soviets would like to find some way to bring the war to an end when they think the time is suitable.

Flyers' Meet Postponed

Previously scheduled meeting of the Circleville Flying Assn. for Wednesday evening has been postponed indefinitely.

Essay Contest on 'Peace' Is Sponsored by Lions Club

Youths of Circleville have been given a challenge to develop a plan for world peace by their local Lions Club that could earn one of them a $25,000 education or career assistance grant.

Circleville Lions Club, along with Lions Clubs throughout the world, is sponsoring a world-wide essay contest for youth on the most important subject today. Topic of the competitive essays will be "Peace".

The contest offers $50,000 in total awards, including a $25,000 first prize, eight semi-final world regional awards of $1,000 each and travel expenses for the eight winners to Chicago in July, 1967.

At that time, the first prize winner will be chosen from the eight finalists. Also, more than 20,000 local, district and multiple district awards will be made.

NOLAN Sims Jr., president of the local Lions' Club, noted today "We are hopeful one of our young people will win this world-wide prestige award."

The contest is open to young people who will be 14, but less than 22 years of age by Jan. 13, 1967.

Winner of the Circleville contest will advance to Lions District 13-J competition in his or her effort to qualify for the multiple district contest, Sims said.

The local club president pointed out that the purpose of the contest is to develop a formula for world peace because the 20,000 Lions Clubs in the world "feel peace is attainable."

Judging will fall into four categories: 75 per cent of the essay's points will be devoted to content, ten per cent to organization, ten per cent to style and five per cent to mechanics.

Sims said that three judges will be appointed to evaluate the entries submitted to the local club. If the local winner can advance through the judging stages up to the world finals he will receive an expense paid trip to Chicago to attend the Lions International 50th Annual Convention for the final judging of his essay in addition to winning the $1,000 award.

Full details of the contest are available from any Lions member or Sims, who resides at 120 W. High St.

Market Rally On Brisk Side

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market rallied briskly again today with many glamor stocks making wide recoveries. Trading was heavy.

At 11:30 a.m., the Dow Jones industrial average was up 3.34 points at 757.35.

Blue chips also did well in the early rally which carried over from Monday's best showing in almost a month.

The market surged back from early losses Monday to close with a net gain of 10.19 points at 754.51 in the Dow Jones average.

Ohio Congressmen To View Issues

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Four Ohio Congressmen and U. S. Sen. Stephen M. Young will discuss national and international issues the final day of the Ohio Savings and Loan League's 78th convention here Oct. 16-19.

The congressmen are Reps. William H. Ayres, Akron; Thomas L. Ashley, Toledo; Samuel Devine, Columbus, and Frank T. Bow, Canton.

Joseph E. Linville, League president, said 1,000 delegates already have signed to participate in sessions. The "tight money" market will be the principal topic of several discussions, Linville said.

Pastor Zehner Named to Child Welfare Board

Pickaway County Commissioners yesterday acted to fill a vacancy on the Child Welfare Board, naming Pastor Carl Zehner of the Circleville Lutheran Church as the fifth member.

Pastor Zehner will complete the unexpired term of Kenneth Shepler, who recently resigned.

Other members of the Child Welfare Board are Ralph Starkey, Mrs. George Hamman III, Mrs. Roger Hedges and Harry Kern.

In other business before the board of commissioners yesterday, Charles Morris submitted a resolution saluting the volunteer firemen of Pickaway County during National Fire Prevention Week.

A letter from Fire Chief Bernard Wolfe of the Circleville Fire Department was read concerning the fire escape constructed at Memorial Hall. The fire escape meets the necessary standards and requirements the chief told the commissioners.

Ag Society Bookkeeper Resigns Post

Pickaway County Agricultural Society is without a secretary-bookkeeper.

Charles Gerhardt, 640 Garden Parkway, submitted his resignation to the board last week with an effective date of Oct. 10. He had held the post since last year when the Fair Board divided the duties of the Fair manager.

Gerhardt said that he was unable to perform all the duties required of him as secretary-bookkeeper due to personal circumstances.

No replacement has been named for the post vacated by Gerhardt's resignation.

Murder Count Filed

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—Charles D. Webb, 30, Franklin, has been charged with murder and assault with a deadly weapon as the result of a shooting Saturday night that left his uncle dead and another man injured.

Webb was arrested shortly after Edward (Dink) Powell, 48, Franklin, was shot to death in front of a Franklin tavern. Police said John Chastain, 18, also suffered a minor head wound during the altercation.

PTO Meet Cancelled

Thursday's meeting of the Pickaway Twp. Parent-Teacher Organization has been cancelled.

New Library Proposal Aired By Pickaway Commissioners

Members of the Pickaway County Library Assn. and the Pickaway County Monumental Assn. met yesterday with commissioners to discuss the possibility of building a new library.

The meeting was called by commissioners Lloyd Melvin.

Wayne Hines and Charles Morris, who feel the cost of maintaining the antiquated Memorial Hall which presently houses the library is becoming too high.

Commissioners told the library board that there are federal grants available for the construction of a library through the Library Service and Construction Act.

Representing the Library Board yesterday were Mrs. Ray Davis, Mrs. Kermit Dountz, Mrs. Stanley Bowers and Mrs. John Dunlap. Leonard Coffland, president of the monumental Assn. was also present.

THEY all agreed that a study should be made of the proposed move.

Commissioners have written to Congressmen William Harsha and Robert Sweeney and to Senators Frank J. Lausche and Stephen Young concerning the availability of federal funds for the library construction.

They have received answers from all but Young. The first step now will be for the Library Board to contact the State Library Department for further information.

Before any of the funds can be made available, the library board must present plans for a structure.

Commissioner Charles Morris has suggested the board consider tearing down the present building and erecting a new structure at the site. He also noted provisions for parking facilities should be made, as well as provisions for housing the Youth Canteen.

Boosters To View Grid Films

The Circleville High School Booster Club will meet at Noel's King Boy South at 8 p. m. Wednesday.

Coach Paul Starr will show the films of the Circleville-Miami Trace game.

Prizes awarded during the half-time at the Circleville-Miami Trace game went to the following people: Mrs. Tillie Melson, 616 S. Court Street; William Camp, 535 Green Acre Court; T. D. Stouffer, 1226 S. Pickaway Street; Emmett Ebenack, Route 2, Circleville; and Gerald Majors, 489 E. Franklin Street.

All downtown merchants are again reminded to display the Red and Black flag this Friday when the Circleville Tigers meet the Washington Court House team at Washington Court House. The boosters are asking the flags to be displayed at both the home and away games.

Young Democrats Hear Candidates

The Pickaway County Young Democrats met last night in the Democratic Headquarters on East Main St.

Principal speaker at the meeting was Michael Arton. Democratic candidate for state senator, who spoke on behalf of his candidacy and on highway safety.

Dick Gerhardt spoke on behalf of Robert Sweeney, a candidate for congressman at large from Ohio. Jim Hawthorne represented Otis Reno at the meeting. Reno is a candidate for the sixth district congressman.

Another meeting of the young Dems has been scheduled Oct. 24 beginning at 7:30 p. m. Candidates slated to be present are Dick Tootle, candidate for commissioner; Michael Arton and Myrl Shoemaker, candidate for State Representative. Joan Brink presided at the meeting last night.

Views on TV - Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — This season's television audience likes best the established series of past years and old movies, often at the expense of a lot of new shows.

This seems evident with the publication of the first significant Nielsen ratings of the current season Monday which covered the viewing choices during the two weeks ending Sept. 23 when the three networks were all broadcasting their new shows and old shows with fresh material.

The new list, projected from a national audience sample of some 1,200 homes, gives some strong clues about reception of new shows although it is considered by the industry to be a preliminary report. The Nielsen report which networks and sponsors will consider to be critical will come early in November, after audiences have built new viewing habits after sampling all network wares.

ABC's "Rat Patrol," is the only new series to make the top 10, which pretty well establishes it as a hit. Three others—CBS's "Family Affair," ABC's "Foley Squad" and NBC's "Occasional Wife,"—got into the top 20 list.

But 25 of 34 new series were shows, and 19 of these built ratings in the lower half of a list of 90 which, if unimproved later, makes them logical candidates for midseason replacement.

Among the shows receiving particularly unimpressive receptions were ABC's "Stage 67," "Shane," "Hawk" and "Milton Berle Show," CBS' "Gary More" "Hero," "Hey, Landlord" and "Roger Miller Show."

Network television's current infatuation with feature movies is understandable. There are currently five two-hour blocks devoted to movie reruns during the week — and all five built up powerful Nielsen scores that landed them among the top 25 shows. ABC's broadcast of "Bridge on the River Kwai" was a blockbuster that occupied the networks usual two-hour movie spot and then some, led the hit parade of all shows.

Most shows that were popular last season continued their winning ways, although "Batman" appears to have lost some of its appeal, dropping from a top 10 spot last season to 34th on the new list. Gilligan's Island" and "I've Got a Secret are both in new time spots this season and seem to have gotten lost in the shuffle, but "Gomer Pyle, also switched, continues to be a strong attraction.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Live as You Please

DEAR ABBY: I am 22 and for the past year I have been going with a married man of 44. He was nearly separated from his wife when I met him. He's a fine intelligent man and we love each other very much. His wife is a shrew who has turned their father. Since she has found out about me she has been pestering my family with anonymous calls and gossiping about me.

She has called me, too, and said some horrible things to me, calling me names, etc. She's also sent me hate cards. I know she'll eventually get sick of the way things are and will divorce him so he can marry me. But in the meantime, is there anything I can do to keep her from making my life so miserable?

Fair Housing Law Complaints Few

CLEVELAND (AP)—In more than 11 months since Ohio's fair housing law went into effect, only 54 complaints have been filed under the law in the 20-county region covered by the Cleveland office of the Ohio Civil Rights Commission.

Joseph C. Hunter, acting regional director in Cleveland, says about 19 of 54 complaints resulted in the complainant getting the housing he sought.

Owners complied with the law in 31 cases, but some of the apartments had been rented before the complainant's claim could be processed, Hunter said.

Nine cases are still under investigation, public hearings are scheduled for three more, ten were dropped because investigators found "no probable cause" for a discrimination charge and in one case the commission said it had no jurisdiction.

No Funnv Business

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — "Put your money in this bag and no funny business," read the note a gunman slipped teller Marjorie Huenefeld at a Toledo Home Federal Savings & Loan Association office Monday. She complied $1,043 worth, police were told.

The robber, catching the teller alone in the office, ordered her to lie on the floor while he made his getaway.

Delay Indicated For Highway Plan

CLEVELAND (AP)—Completion of the nation's interstate highway system may be delayed four years beyond the 1973 target date, according to a report prepared for the annual convention of the American Automobile Association.

The report of the AAA's highway committee, released Sunday night by William G. Walters of Birmingham, Mich., notes that the government apparently will not increase motorists' taxes to pay for completing the system by 1972 but instead will extend the life of present taxes.

The committee blamed the situation on rising construction costs, which have gone up 2.5 per cent annually.

Total price for the system was set at $51 billion, up $10 billion from the 1961 official estimate.

MRS. G.G.L.

DEAR MRS. L: I have an agreement with the bar association. They won't write advice columns and I won't practice law. But they have allowed me to state that no one can prevent anyone else from suing. Whether they can collect or not, is another matter. In the meantime, why not give the teacher a piece of your lip!

DEAR ABBY: I hate alcohol and my sons know it. Yet when we go to their homes for parties, the boys and their wives and their guests drink hard liquor right in front of us. One boy is 52 and the other is 55, so they don't need our permission to drink, but it wouldn't hurt them to abstain when we are present.

My husband is on the boys' side. He says the younger generation is living in an entirely different world. Should I tell the boys that as far as I am concerned, they can live in their world and I will live in mine.

BLOOMINGTON, ILL.

DEAR BLOOMINGTON: If you want to remain on speaking terms with your sons, I suggest you stop fighting the battle of the bottle and try living in the same world as long as possible. You'll be living in different worlds soon enough.

Japanese Film Star Bars Sad Tidings on Home Cinema

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Japanese foremost film star, Toshiro Mifune, has come here for finishing touches on his first American movie and he bears sad tidings of the state of the Japanese cinema.

He is a man of medium height, with a face and physique that indicate latent power. The face is remarkable; it has the peculiarly stateless look of Anthony Quinn or Yul Brynner, and you get the impression that Mifune could play a variety of nationalities.

The actor, 46, enacts a Japanese in "Grand Prix," the racing film he made under John Frankenheimer's direction last summer at tracks and courses in Europe. Mifune was here briefly to dub a few lines onto the sound track in his phonetically spoken English. Before reporting to MGM, he paused for an interview, using as interpreter a young Japanese who had studied film technique at UCLA.

Mifune is the most notable star to come out Japan's golden age of films, drawing praise from critics around the world for his naturalistic acting in "Rashomon," "Yojimbo," "Red Beard," etc. He reported that Japanese films have fallen upon bad times. The principal villain: television.

"Our film industry is going through the same thing that American movies suffered 10 years ago," he said. "Not only has television cut down on theater attendance; the Japanese have now filled up their houses with all the appliances available and are going in for car touring and other entertainment outside the home."

"The Japanese film industry, which enjoys a monopoly by controlling both the major studios and the theaters, has been steadily declining, and it hasn't reached the bottom yet. The leaders have been doing nothing about it, hoping that the industry will follow Hollywood's example and start to rise again."

"They have been cutting down the costs of each picture and resorting to sex and violence, and that only makes the situation worse."

Jaycees Slate Candidates Night Here

The Circleville Junior Chamber of Commerce has scheduled a "Meet the Candidates" night Oct. 29 at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds Coliseum.

This is the second time the Jaycees have undertaken this program to introduce the candidates to the voters.

Chairman of the event is Ted Noel. Tentative plans call for the program agenda to be similar to the first event.

Letters of invitation have been sent to every candidate of both parties, from the state officials to city candidates.

The proposed program will get underway at 7:30 p. m. Refreshments will be served by the Jaycees.

Sentence Imposed

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP)—Common Pleas Judge M. Dale Osborne has sentenced Curt Barger, 33, to 1-20 years in the penitentiary for the fatal shooting of Colonel Woods, 33.

Woods was shot early on April 18 in a New Richmond tavern and Barger, the bartender, was charged with second degree murder. A common pleas court jury found him guilty of first degree manslaughter and Judge Osborne passed sentence Monday.

Metzler discussed the school's new organization system to the members present.

NEW YORK (AP) — This season's television audience likes best the established series of past years and old movies, often at the expense of a lot of new shows.

This seems evident with the publication of the first significant Nielsen ratings of the current season Monday which covered the viewing choices during the two weeks ending Sept. 25 when the three networks were all broadcasting their new shows and old shows with fresh material.

The new list, projected from a national audience sample of some 1,200 homes, gives some strong clues about reception of new shows although it is considered by the industry to be a preliminary report. The Nielsen report which networks and sponsors will consider to be critical will come early in November, after audiences have built new viewing habits after sampling all network wares.

ABC's "Rat Patrol," is the only new series to make the top 10, which pretty well establishes it as a hit. Three others—CBS's "Family Affair," ABC's "Foley Squard" and NBC's "Occasional Wife,"—got into the top 20 list.

But 25 of 34 new series were shows, and 19 of these built right in the lower half of a list of 90 ings which, if unimproved later, makes them logical candidates for midseason replacement.

Among the shows receiving particularly unimpressive receptions were ABC's "Stage 67," "Shane," "Hawk and "Milton Berle Show," CBS "Gary More" "Hero," "Hey, Landlord" and "Roger Miller Show."

Network television's current infatuation with feature movies is understandable. There are currently five two-hour blocks devoted to movie reruns during the week — and all five built up powerful Nielsen scores that landed them among the top 25 shows. ABC's broadcast of "Bridge on the River Kwai" was a blockbuster that occupied the networks usual two-hour movie spot and then some, led the hit parade of all shows.

Most shows that were popular last season continued their winning ways, although "Batman" appears to have lost some of its appeal, dropping from a top 10 spot last season to 34th on the new list. Gilligan's Island" and "I've Got a Secret are both in new time spots this season and seem to have gotten lost in the shuffle, but "Gomer Pyle, also switched, continues to be a strong attraction.

Dear Abby: Live as You Please

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am 22 and for the past year I have been going with a married man of 44. He was nearly separated from his wife when I met him. He's a fine intelligent man and we love each other very much. His wife is a shrew who has turned their four children against their father. Since she has found out about me she has been pestering my family with anonymous calls and gossiping about me.

She has called me, too, and said some horrible things to me, calling me names, etc. She's also sent me hate cards. I know she'll eventually get sick of the way things are and will divorce him so he can marry me. But in the meantime, is there anything I can do to keep her from making my life so miserable?

BORN TO WIN

DEAR MRS. L.: I have an agreement with the bar association. They won't write advice columns and I won't practice law. But they have allowed me to state that no one can prevent anyone else from suing. Whether they can collect or not, is another matter. In the meantime, why not give the teacher a piece of your lip!

DEAR ABBY: I hate alcohol and my sons know it. Yet when we go to their homes for parties, the boys and their wives and their guests drink hard liquor right in front of us. One boy is 52 and the other is 55, so they don't need our permission to drink, but it wouldn't hurt them to abstain when we are present.

Fair Housing Law Complaints Few

CLEVELAND (AP)—In more than 11 months since Ohio's fair housing law went into effect, only 54 complaints have been filed under the law in the 20-county region covered by the Cleveland office of the Ohio Civil Rights Commission.

Joseph C. Hunter, acting regional director in Cleveland, says about 19 of 54 complaints resulted in the complainant getting the housing he sought.

Owners complied with the law in 31 cases, but some of the apartments had been rented before the complainant's claim could be processed, Hunter said.

Nine cases are still under investigation, public hearings are scheduled for three more, ten were dropped because investigators found "no probable cause" for a discrimination charge and in one case the commission said it had no jurisdiction.

'No Funny Business'

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — "Put your money in this bag and no funny business," read the note a gunman slipped teller Marjorie Ruenefeldt at a Toledo Home Federal Savings & Loan Association office Monday. She complied $1,043 worth, police were told.

The robber, catching the teller alone in the office, ordered her to lie on the floor while he made his getaway.

Delay Indicated For Highway Plan

CLEVELAND (AP)—Completion of the nation's interstate highway system may be delayed four years beyond the 1973 target date, according to a report prepared for the annual convention of the American Automobile Association.

The report of the AAA's highway committee, released Sunday night by William G. Walters of Birmingham, Mich., notes that the government apparently will not increase motorists' taxes to pay for completing the system by 1972 but instead will extend the life of present taxes.

The committee blamed the situation on rising construction costs, which have gone up 2.5 per cent annually.

Total price for the system was set at $51 billion, up $10 billion from the 1961 official estimate.

Japanese Film Star Bars Sad Tidings on Home Cinema

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Japanese foremost film star, Toshirō Mifune, has come here for finishing touches on his first American movie and he bears sad tidings of the state of the Japanese cinema.

He is a man of medium height, with a face and physique that indicate latent power. The face is remarkable; it has the peculiarly stateless look of Anthony Quinn or Yul Brynner, and you get the impression that Mifune could play a variety of nationalities.

The actor, 46, enacts a Japanese in "Grand Prix," the racing film he made under John Frankenheimer's direction last summer at tracks and courses in Europe. Mifune was here briefly to dub a few lines onto the sound track in his phonetically spoken English. Before reporting to MGM, he paused for an interview, using as interpreter a young Japanese who had studied film technique at UCLA.

Mifune is the most notable star to come out Japan's golden age of films, drawing praise from critics around the world for his naturalistic acting in "Rashomon," "Yojimbo," "Red Beard," etc. He reported that Japanese films have fallen upon bad times. The principal villain: television.

"Our film industry is going through the same thing that American movies suffered 10 years ago," he said. "Not only has television cut down on theater attendance; the Japanese have now filled up their houses with all the appliances available and are going in for car touring and other entertainment outside the home."

Julie Wanted To Be Outside

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — "I don't feel particularly stepped in philosophy today," said Julie Andrews, curling neatly in the sofa of her Park Avenue hotel suite.

She wore a beige turtleneck ribbed sweater and beige and gray checked sweat trousers, and she looked impossibly lovely.

Although she was too beautifully mannered to say no, Julie didn't feel particularly like being interviewed either. It was a fine autumn afternoon, and what she wanted to do was go for a stroll and shop at a toy store for a new doll for her daughter, Emma, who will be 4 next month.

Miss Andrews, in the dozen years since she made her Broadway debut in the role of a British flapper of the 1920s, has become a world-known entertainment figure.

She came here for the premiere of "Hawaii," one of six films she has done since 1962.

"They kind of snowballed," she said, "and I was exhausted. But I feel fine now."

After a holiday of some weeks, she will start on a filmed biography of the late musical comedy star, Gertrude Lawrence.

"It's hard to portray someone else, particularly one so recently here," she remarked. "I never met her, but I feel I know her. The difficult thing, without doing a straight impersonation of the lady, will be trying to convey what an enormous personality she was."

At 31, Julie herself has become an enormous personality. She combines a cheery warmth with an unmistakable reserve, a bit as Alice in Wonderland might be if she had gone to Radcliffe. She is no longer a childhood Cinderella, but a Cinderella growing used to life in the castle.

She still thinks of life as a quest, however.

"It's a search for the truth in it," she said, "to try to separate the real things from the unreal, to find out what one's personal values are. A sense of humor is awfully important, too."

Julie's perfect courtesy doesn't permit her to say anything mean about someone else — or anything unkind about herself. Asked what she thought her biggest fault was, she said, laughing:

"Most people seem to think I'm a sweet, kind, gentle lady who can work miracles and is good to everyone — and I am. I'd rather let others say what my faults are."

Her likes and dislikes? "I like my daughter, California, potato sandwiches, work, sleep, the season of spring, Friday because it's the day before Saturday, the scent of lilacs, wearing white clothing, and blues and coral colors for fun; textured things in fabrics and paintings, rain, being with close friends. I adore the smell of gasoline and subway stations and most of all, the smell of earth in a greenhouse with the thermostat turned up."

"I dislike traffic jams, too much heat in homes, bitter chocolate, bird of paradise flowers, the sound of police sirens, big parties — they drive me up the wall — and mothers who force their small children to look at 'Mary Poppins'."

As the interview ended, her perfect courtesy again came to the fore.

"I hope," she said, "I haven't been too facetious?"

What is Julie Andrews really like? She really like Julie Andrews.

The Business World

By John Cuniff

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Is the term "corporate democracy," which the securities business likes to brag about to the nation's shareholders, really accurate? Or is the securities business an oligarchy?

Does the total of 10 million shareowners make the business democratic? Or does the concentration of power among the experts and professionals make it a government of the few?

The questions arise when you view the enormous holdings and growing participation of institutional buyers, when you consider the very active stock trading they have been involved in this year, when you realize the impact their big blocks of stock can have on prices.

The term corporate democracy has become a common one in recent years, coinciding with a sharp growth in stock ownership. The latest New York Stock Exchange census shows shareowners have tripled in number since 1952.

There is no question about the greater popularity of stocks, partly the result of educational programs by the industry and its exchanges. The nation's individual shareowners now hold stock worth more than $400 billion.

However, holdings of institutions — the investment companies and mutual funds, the insurance companies, schools, foundations are near a record high now, somewhere near $100 billion.

Add to this another professional group, the $60 billion of bank-administered personal trust funds, and these pros now have one-third of the value of all stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Joining this group as altire traders is another category — The small but knowledgeable individual, the margin trader, the speculator. He is professional in his education and knowledge.

The impact of this power is felt in the trading, for in recent months the big institutions have been more active traders than before. When they trade they are able to unload or buy huge blocks. If a stock is tightly held this can have a sharp impact on prices.

The activity of these groups means that much of the day to day trading is done by persons or institutions very highly expert compared to the much-honored small investor.

The small purchaser of securities generally is not a trader. His account often is relatively dormant. And his interest is seldom great enough for him to participate at a company's annual meeting.

To a great extent the small investor is relatively poor informed compared to the pro. Nevertheless, a vast amount of information is available to the small investor merely for the asking, ranging from ABCs to highly complex professional studies. Is the interest and understanding there, however?

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE — We welcome letters to the editor. In order to be considered for publication, they must bear the correct name and address of the writer. Anonymous letters and those signed with the request that signatures be withheld will not be accepted for publication. Opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers and not necessarily those of The Herald.

Dear Sir:

For several weeks, there have been large trucks parked in front of my house (510 E. Main St.).

These trucks sometimes, have large logs chined to the bed and at other times, they are loaded with catpillar tractors. These vehicles, as parked, raise the following objections:

1. They create a traffic hazard by blocking the line of sight from my driveway. Often, they are parked within 50 feet of the intersection of E. Main St. and Lancaster Pike.
2. Taking up unnecessary parking space, the trucks allow no visitors to park in front of my house.
3. They are unsightly and not a very nice view when we look out the front windows.
4. The parking area in front of a person's dwelling should be for the private use of that person by right of occupancy.

City council has indicated that I cannot have these trucks removed by legal means. Yet they would have me arrested should I have them removed by any means, other than legal.

I have appealed to the truck owners to park elsewhere but without result, except the subtle hint that if I pursued this matter I could end up with a fat lip.

This infuriates me! I cannot park in front of my house but if I resist others parking there, I may get a fat lip in the face!

I propose to councilmen of the city of Circleville, that they pass the following resolution: "No trucks or commercial vehicles shall park anywhere on the streets of Circleville except when loading or unloading; or in clearly defined and designated areas. Any violation of this ordinance shall result in a fine, or imprisonment, or both!"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A WORRIED young banker came to his lawyer waving a letter he had just received. "This man," he wailed, "claims he's discovered that while he's been away on business, I've been running around with his wife, and that the next time he sees me, he's probably going to shoot me. What should I do?"

"Better go round to see him immediately," suggested the lawyer, "and deny everything. Try to calm him down."

"I'd have done just that without consulting you," grumbled the banker, "but this rat didn't sign the letter."

A proud father brought his son into a tailor shop and ordered a suit for the boy. "It's got to fit perfectly," he ordered, "and I don't care how much you charge for it." The suit was duly made and delivered, and the very next day the father and son were back in the shop. The tailor noticed at once that the sleeves and the pants were woefully short, and the coat failed to meet in front by three inches.

"Well, well," beamed the tailor. "How that boy of yours has grown!"

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

Physicians and surgeons are, rightfully proud when they are responsible for the saving of a single life. It is said that if a physician, after 50 years of practice, can point to ten lives that he has spared he has been truly compensated for a life's work.

It is understandable, therefore, how inadequate doctors all over America feel when they learn that 50,000 people are killed each year by the lethal weapon, the automobile. In addition almost two million injuries are caused by cars that leave an appalling wake of permanent handicaps.

It is a simple bit of statistics to calculate that it will take doctors all over the world tens of thousands of years to compensate for this disaster.

This is a health problem no different from a mass epidemic, earthquake, hurricane or flood. Such a menace to health must be controlled by every device known to health officials, traffic engineers, highway architects and automobile manufacturers.

Safety devices are being created and used in all modern cars to insure safety to passengers and to pedestrians. Padded interiors and secure floor catches with seat belts (that are used) give additional protection.

These contributions are mechanical ones that do not take into consideration the medical and psychological health of the driver who, with a health deficiency, threatens the lives of those who surround him.

It is imperative that the most comprehensive driver education programs must train beginners and experienced drivers alike. The rules of the road should be reviewed by examination at regular intervals when the license comes up for renewal. The incompetent, unreliable, emotionally unstable and physically limited person with poor reflexes must be removed permanently from the road.

This is where the physician plays a vital role in preserving safety by emphasizing the illnesses and handicaps that may impair his driving deficiency.

These are some of the physical ailments that can interfere with the split-second timing that often spells the difference between safety and disaster: Any tendency to faint and fall asleep, convulsions, incomplete recovery from a stroke, impaired vision, deficient hearing, attacks of dizziness (vertigo), diabetes under insulin treatment, heart disease, epilepsy and incapacitating arthritis can be responsible for death and destruction on the highway.

The psychological and mental makeup of any driver should be evaluated before he is given the luxury of highway freedom. Drugs, tranquilizers, sedatives and anti-allergy medicines can produce drowsiness and fatigue which reduce the speed of reflexes.

The deadly combination of alcohol and horsepower is terrifying.

With rigid restrictions some people will undoubtedly be deprived of the right to drive. This will be compensated by the safety to themselves and to their own families who may be threatened by other drivers. Patients should consult their own physicians and bluntly ask if they are a threat to others in the community. The physician becomes a health officer with a greater horizon by eliminating the calamitous loss of lives on the highways.

Apart from the Vietnamese War and the high cost of living, the issue of our physical surroundings seems to strike more sensitive nerves than any other issue affecting the 1966 political campaigns. The very mention of "pollution" in a column touches off the letter writers as nothing else does. Some of the letters are nostalgic and romantic, full of dreams of the past when the streams were clear and every small town was a Tom Sawyer - Huck Finn paradise. Other letters are argumentative, and some of them make points that should, in the interests of fairness, be presented.

Thus Don Miller, the Outdoor Editor of the Elyria, Ohio, Chronicle - Telegram, picks up a remark made in this column apropos Lake Erie. The remark was purely tangential, put forward in an article that was partly devoted to a scientists' proposal to turn Long Island Sound into a fresh water lake by damming it at two ends. "Soon," so I wrote, "we would have an eastern seaboard version of Lake Erie, where the fish are reputedly dying for lack of oxygen."

The word "reputedly" was used advisedly, for my information about Lake Erie came from other people's articles and not from any personal dunking in the lake. What Mr. Miller says is that the many words written about Lake Erie being a "cesspool" are way off base. Mr. Miller admits that samplings of the lake "revealed an area of oxygen depletion in deep water, off Lorain." But this, so he continues, "has not killed fish. They merely avoid such areas. In turn, these areas of oxygen depletion normally are not permanent; they exist because of a combination of circumstances which can be varied by so little as a shift in wind direction."

Mr. Miller's report should be heartening to those who have assumed that pollution of U.S. lakes and rivers has reached a point of no return.

"On Lake Erie," he says, "we have a problem of combating pollution, most of it stemming from the Detroit area, and this is under attack now. Today it is a fine body of water. On my last walleye fishing trip, from four to eight P. M., I caught thirty-nine. It is not at all unusual for me to catch from five to ten smallmouth bass per outing, with the average varying from two to three pounds . . . Anyone can, in an afternoon of fishing for yellow perch, take 150 fish per individual . . ."

Mr. Miller is bothered because the more pervid accounts of Lake Erie pollution are destroying his favorite lake as a playground for vacationers. "I have no economic interest in cottages, marinas or commercial fishing," he says. "My only interest is in letting people know the truth about this five million-acre body of water."

Since the conservation issue in all its many facets is being picked up by political candidates everywhere, it is good to have all the pros and cons laid out for inspection. Last month this column let Barry Goldwater have his say about the proposal to dam the Colorado River in a couple of places below the Grand Canyon. Goldwater says the damming would not harm the Grand Canyon from the spectacular point of view. Since he is a native of Arizona, and an honest man who would not knowingly violate the truth, I thought Goldwater was entitled to his opinion, which hadn't had much play in the headlines.

Barry's opinion, however, has by no means won the conservatives to his pro-Arizona argument that damming the Colorado will produce economic benefits that outweigh any esthetic loss in Grand Canyon scenery. "The New Guard," which is the monthly magazine of Young Americans for Freedom, a group which has always stood staunchly in Barry's corner, comes out boldly against the damming of the Colorado. "The New Guard" editors call the proposition a "boondoggle" which would destroy invaluable geological records and block the side canyons with silt that would create a nasty situation at "low tide" in the river system.

So the conservative camp is split down the middle on the subject of tampering with the Colorado River. Well, the more argument here, the better. Regardless of the rights and wrongs in the damming issue, it is good to know that conservatives can be trusted to keep open minds until the evidence has been thoroughly sifted.

Julie Wanted To Be Outside

NEW YORK (AP) — "I don't feel particularly stepped in philosophy today," said Julie Andrews, curling neatly in the sofa of her Park Avenue hotel suite.

She wore a beige turtleneck ribbed sweater and beige and gray checked tweed trousers, and she looked impossibly lovely.

Although she was too beautifully mannered to say no, Julie didn't feel particularly like being interviewed either. It was a fine autumn afternoon, and what she wanted to do was go for a stroll and shop at a toy store for a new doll for her daughter, Emma, who will be 4 next month.

Miss Andrews, in the dozen years since she made her Broadway debut in the role of a British flapper of the 1920s, has become a world-known entertainment figure.

She came here for the premiere of "Hawaii," one of six films she has done since 1962.

"They kind of snowballed," she said, "and I was exhausted. But I feel fine now."

After a holiday of some weeks, she will start on a filmed biography of the late musical comedy star, Gertrude Lawrence.

"It's hard to portray someone else, particularly one so recently here," she remarked. "I never met her, but I feel I know her. The difficult thing, without doing a straight impersonation of the lady, will be trying to convey what an enormous personality she was."

At 31, Julie herself has become an enormous personality. She combines a cheery warmth with an unmistakable reserve, a bit as Alice in Wonderland might be if she had gone to Rialto. She is no longer a childhood Cinderella, but a Cinderella growing used to life in the castle.

She still thinks of life as a quest, however.

"It's a search for the truth in it," she said, "to try to separate the real things from the unreal, to find out what one's personal values are. A sense of humor is awfully important, too."

Julie's perfect courtesy doesn't permit her to say anything mean about someone else — or anything unkind about herself. Asked what she thought her biggest fault was, she said, laughing:

"Most people seem to think I'm a sweet, kind, gentle lady who can do miracles and is good to everyone — and I am. I'd rather let others say what my faults are."

Her likes and dislikes? "I like my daughter, California, potato sandwiches, work, sleep, the season of spring, Friday because it's the day before Saturday, the scent of lilacs, wearing white clothing, and blues and coral colors for fun; textured things in fabrics and paintings, rain, being with close friends. I adore the smell of gasoline and subway stations and most of all, the smell of earth in a greenhouse with the thermostat turned up."

"I dislike traffic jams, too much heat in homes, bitter chocolate, bird of paradise flowers, the sound of police sirens, big parties — they drive me up the wall — and mothers who force their small children to look at 'Mary Poppins.'"

As the interview ended, her perfect courtesy again came to the fore.

"I hope," she said, "I haven't been too facetious."

What is Julie Andrews really like? Shes really like Julie Andrews.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A WORRIED young banker came to his lawyer waving a letter he had just received. "This man," he wailed, "claims he's discovered that while he's been away on business, I've been running around with his wife, and that the next time he sees me, he's probably going to shoot me. What should I do?"

"Better go round to see him immediately," suggested the lawyer, "and deny everything. Try to calm him down."

"I'd have done just that without consulting you," grumbled the banker, "but this rat didn't sign the letter."

A proud father brought his son into a tailor shop and ordered a suit for the boy. "It's got to fit perfectly," he ordered, "and I don't care how much you charge for it." The suit was duly made and delivered, and the very next day the father and son were back in the shop. The tailor noticed at once that the sleeves and the pants were woefully short, and the coat failed to meet in front by three inches.

"Well, well," beamed the tailor. "How that boy of yours has grown!"

Physicians and surgeons are rightfully proud when they are responsible for the saving of a single life. It is said that if a physician, after 50 years of practice, can point to ten lives that he has spared he has been truly compensated for a life's work.

It is understandable, therefore, how inadequate doctors all over America feel when they learn that 50,000 people are killed each year by the lethal weapon, the automobile. In addition almost two million injuries are caused by cars that leave an appalling wake of permanent handicaps.

It is a simple bit of statistics to calculate that it will take doctors all over the world tens of thousands of years to compensate for this disaster.

This is a health problem no different from a mass epidemic, earthquake, hurricane or flood. Such a menace to health must be controlled by every device known to health officials, traffic engineers, highway architects and automobile manufacturers.

Safety devices are being created and used in all modern cars to insure safety to passengers and to pedestrians. Padded interiors and secure floor catches with seat belts (that are used) give additional protection.

These contributions are mechanical ones that do not take into consideration the medical and psychological health of the driver who, with a health deficiency, threatens the lives of those who surround him.

It is imperative that the most comprehensive driver education programs must train beginners and experienced drivers alike. The rules of the road should be reviewed by examination at regular intervals when the license comes up for renewal. The incompetent, unreliable, emotionally unstable and physically limited person with poor reflexes must be removed permanently from the road.

This is where the physician plays a vital role in preserving safety by emphasizing the illnesses and handicaps that may impair his driving deficiency.

These are some of the physical ailments that can interfere with the split-second timing that often spells the difference between safety and disaster: Any tendency to faint and fall asleep, convulsions, incomplete recovery from a stroke, impaired vision, deficient hearing, attacks of dizziness (vertigo), diabetes under insulin treatment, heart disease, epilepsy and incapacitating arthritis can be responsible for death and destruction on the highway.

The psychological and mental makeup of any driver should be evaluated before he is given the luxury of highway freedom. Drugs, tranquilizers, sedatives and anti-allergy medicines can produce drowsiness and fatigue which reduce the speed of reflexes.

The deadly combination of alcohol and horsepower is terrifying. With rigid restrictions some people will undoubtedly be deprived of the right to drive. This will be compensated by the safety to themselves and to their own families who may be threatened by other drivers.

Patients should consult their own physicians and bluntly ask if they are a threat to others in the community. The physician becomes a health officer with a greater horizon by eliminating the calamitous loss of lives on the highways.

EDITOR'S NOTE — We

welcome letters to the editor. In order to be considered for publication, they must bear the correct name and address of the writer. Anonymous letters and those signed with the request that signatures be withheld will not be accepted for publication. Opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers and not necessarily those of The Herald.

Dear Sir:

For several weeks, there have been large trucks parked in front of my house (510 E. Main St.).

These trucks sometimes, have large logs chined to the bed and at other times, they are loaded with catapillar tractors. These vehicles, as parked, raise the following objections:

1. They create a traffic hazard by blocking the line of sight from my driveway. Often, they are parked within 50 feet of the intersection of E. Main St. and Lancaster Pike.

2. Taking up unnecessary parking space, the trucks allow no visitors to park in front of my house.

3. They are unsightly and not a very nice view when we look out the front windows.

4. The parking area in front of a person's dwelling should be for the private use of that person by right of occupancy.

City council has indicated that I cannot have these trucks removed by legal means. Yet they would have me arrested should I have them removed by any means, other than legal.

I have appealed to the truck owners to park elsewhere but without result, except the subtle hint that if I pursued this matter I could end up with a fat lip.

This infuriates me! I cannot park in front of my house but if I resist others parking there, I may get a fist in the face!

I propose to councilmen of the city of Circleville, that they pass the following resolution: "No trucks or commercial vehicles shall park anywhere on the streets of Circleville except when loading or unloading; or in clearly defined and designated areas. Any violation of this ordinance shall result in a fine, or imprisonment, or both!"

Does the total of 20 million shareowners make the business democratic? Or does the concentration of power among the experts and professionals make it a government of the few?

The questions arise when you view the enormous holdings and growing participation of institutional buyers, when you consider the very active stock trading they have been involved in this year, when you realize the impact their big blocks of stock can have on prices.

The term corporate democracy has become a common one in recent years, coinciding with a sharp growth in stock ownership. The latest New York Stock Exchange census shows shareowners have tripled in number since 1952.

There is no question about the greater popularity of stocks, partly the result of educational programs by the industry and its exchanges. The nation's individual shareowners now hold stock worth more than $400 billion.

However, holdings of institutions — the investment companies and mutual funds, the insurance companies, schools, foundations are near a record high now, somewhere near $100 billion.

Add to this another professional group, the $60 billion of bank-administered personal trust funds, and these pros now have one-third of the value of all stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Joining this group as altire traders is another category — The small but knowledgeable individual, the margin trader, the speculator. He is professional in his education and knowledge.

The impact of this power is felt in the trading, for in recent months the big institutions have been more active traders than before. When they trade they are able to unload or buy huge blocks. If a stock is tightly held this can have a sharp impact on prices.

The activity of these groups

Pollution Issue Stays

By John Chamberlain

Apart from the Vietnamese War and the high cost of living, the issue of our physical surroundings seems to strike more sensitive nerves than any other issue affecting the 1966 political campaigns. The very mention of "pollution" in a column touches off the letter writers as nothing else does. Some of the letters are nostalgic and romantic, full of dreams of the past when the streams were clear and every small town was a Tom Sawyer-Huck Finn paradise. Other letters are argumentative, and some of them make points that should, in the interests of fairness, be presented.

Thus Don Miller, the Outdoor Editor of the Elyria, Ohio, Chronicle-Telegram, picks up a remark made in this column apropos Lake Erie. The remark was purely tangential, put forward in an article that was partly devoted to a scientist's proposal to turn Long Island Sound into a fresh water lake by damming it at two ends. "Soon," so I wrote, "we would have an eastern seaboard version of Lake Erie, where the fish are reputedly dying for lack of oxygen."

The word "reputedly" was used advisedly, for my information about Lake Erie came from other people's articles and not from any personal dunking in the lake. What Mr. Miller says is that the many words written about Lake Erie being a "cesspool" are way off base. Mr. Miller admits that samplings of the lake "revealed an area of oxygen depletion in deep water, off Lorain." But this, so he continues, "has not killed fish. They merely avoid such areas. In turn, these areas of oxygen depletion normally are not permanent; they exist because of a combination of circumstances which can be varied by so little as a shift in wind direction."

Mr. Miller's report should be heartening to those who have assumed that pollution of U.S. lakes and rivers has reached a point of no return.

"On Lake Erie," he says, "we have a problem of combating pollution, most of it stemming from the Detroit area, and this is under attack now. Today it is a fine body of water. On my last walleye fishing trip, from four to eight P. M., I caught thirty-nine. It is not at all unusual for me to catch from five to ten smallmouth bass per outing, with the average varying from two to three pounds . . . Anyone can, in an afternoon of fishing for yellow perch, take 150 fish per individual . . ."

Mr. Miller is bothered because the more perfervid accounts of Lake Erie pollution are destroying his favorite lake as a playground for vacationers. "I have no economic interest in cottages, marinas or commercial fishing," he says. "My only interest is in letting people know the truth about this five million-acre body of water."

Since the conservation issue in all its many facets is being picked up by political candidates everywhere, it is good to have all the pros and cons laid out for inspection. Last month this column let Barry Goldwater have his say about the proposal to dam the Colorado River in a couple of places below the Grand Canyon. Goldwater says the damming would not harm the Grand Canyon from the spectacular point of view. Steel Output Low, but Near 1964 Record

CLEVELAND (AP) — Steel production has been edging downward for three weeks, but the present rate is high enough to make October's output second only to the record set in October, 1964, Steel Magazine said today.

Last week's production was estimated at 2.6 million tons, compared with 2,615,000 in the preceding week and down only 2.6 per cent from three weeks ago, the weekly journal of metal-working said.

Steel finishing is continuing unabated, and the let-up is primarily in ingot production, Steel said. "Ordering by the automotive industry has not been up to the level steel companies had expected," the magazine added.

"It's becoming apparent that automakers will operate on narrow inventories while they appraise sales prospects for 1967 models," Steel said. And building construction requirements are beginning to slow seasonally.

A growing tonnage of steel is going into defense business indirectly, although direct defense orders take only 2 to 4 per cent of production, steel-makers reported to the magazine.

Service centers are buying actively, with accent on plates, structurals and other heavy products, Steel said.

"The U. S. Steel industry is faring better than some producers abroad," the magazine noted. "West German and other European mills reportedly have a significant amount of unbooked capacity."

The magazine's 31-member panel of economic consultants issued its fall prediction of upcoming business conditions and foresaw 1967's business topping this year's, but with a lightly slackened growth rate.

The panel predicted gross national product would gain 6 per cent, against an 8 per cent gain this year; capital spending will persist with wholesale prices rising 2.5 per cent against an expected 3.4 per cent rise in 1966.

"About two-thirds of the panelists look for steel ingot output to decline to 132 million tons next year, following this year's estimated 134 million net tons," Steel said.

Steel's composite on No. 1 heavy melting grade scrap was down 17 cents last week to $28.33 a ton, due chiefly to a decline at the Pittsburgh market.

Thailand Preps For LBJ Visit

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — At the king's command, Thailand is preparing for President Johnson the best reception ever accorded a visiting chief of state.

The World Today

By WALTER R. MEARS
WASHINGTON (AP) — In sum, the latest prescription offered by Republican policy-makers to deal with the war in Viet Nam adds up to two words: fight harder.

It was offered with congressional elections a month away, and with GOP pollsters reporting that the war is the No. 1 concern of American voters.

Republicans clearly have concluded that concern can be translated into votes on Nov. 8.

Their polls indicate a substantial bloc of undecided voters. And their strategy indicates they believe that pronouncements calling for victory in a frustrating Asian war could help GOP candidates attract some of those voters.

Some GOP strategists believe that voter frustration over the complex war situation will work against incumbents in the coming election, regardless of their party.

If that is the outcome, come-back-seeking Republicans will benefit, simply because they have fewer incumbents than the Democrats.

One major unknown factor: The impact of President Johnson's 2½-week Asian tour which will end only six days before the election.

It will include the two-day Manila summit conference where Johnson will meet the leaders of six nations helping to fight Communist forces in Viet Nam. The Republican coordinating committee tempered its hawk-like pronouncement on the war by endorsing that conference as a potential avenue toward peace.

But Senate Republican Leader

Everett M. Dirksen served notice that the GOP expects an accounting of that mission — "and we expect results."

Dirksen said he thinks the voters will expect results, too.

Having endorsed the Manila conference — and noted that Republicans weeks ago urged an all-Asian conference on Viet Nam — the coordinating committee declared: "We insist that every practicable step toward winning the war be taken in support of the thousands now engaged in deadly combat."

The committee's last major pronouncement on Viet Nam — issued on Dec. 13, 1965 — included some specific advice to Johnson. And it urged greater use of air and sea power against military targets in the Communist North, to lessen the need for more U.S. ground forces in the South.

This time, the Republicans offered only general counsel, not specific steps. Former New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, discussing the paper turned out under his guidance, said it is up to Johnson and the Joint Chiefs of Staff to decide exactly what must be done.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has underscored the party position in a series of statements, promising to support whatever steps Johnson finds necessary in Viet Nam — and saying: "We must do whatever is necessary to win as quickly as possible."

In general, the Republican position all along has been one of support for Johnson's war program — with peripheral criticism considered in bounds.

Decrease Seen In Cotton Crop

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department today estimated this year's cotton crop at 10,688,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight, down 2.8 per cent from last month's forecast.

The September estimate was 10,992,000 bales. The new figure compares with 14,956,000 last year and 14,795,000 for the five-year (1960-64) average.

Production was cut sharply this year under a government program offering growers substantial payments for reducing plantings. This program was promoted by the accumulation of a record reserve and surplus supply of 16.9 million bales.

The shortened crop is expected to make room for upwards of 4 million bales of this over-supply.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, Oct. 11, the 284th day of 1966. There are 81 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1776, the Colonials under Benedict Arnold were defeated by the British in the first official naval battle of the Revolution, fought off Valcour Island in Lake Champlain.

On this date:

In 1811, the first steam ferry line in the world was established between New York City and Hoboken, N.J.

In 1939, the British and the Soviets concluded a trade treaty.

In 1941, the Russians evacuated women and children from Moscow as Nazi troops drove toward the Soviet capital.

In 1944, American guns began to pound Aachen after the Nazi troops holding the town turned down a surrender ultimatum.

In 1946, Sarah Gibson Blanding was installed as the first woman president of Vassar College.

Ten years ago—A U.S. military transport plane, en route to the U.S. from Lakenheath, England, was lost in the eastern Atlantic with 49 Air Force and Navy men aboard.

Five years ago — President Kennedy announced he was sending his special military adviser, Gen. Maxwell Taylor, to South Viet Nam to determine the most effective means of helping the Saigon regime of Ngo Dinh Diem defend his country against Communist aggression.

One year ago — President Johnson took his first steps unassisted since his gall bladder operation. His doctors said his recovery was continuing on schedule.

Steel Output Low, but Near 1964 Record

CLEVELAND (AP) — Steel production has been edging downward for three weeks, but the present rate is high enough to make October's output second only to the record set in October, 1964, Steel Magazine said today.

Last week's production was estimated at 2.6 million tons, compared with 2,615,000 in the preceding week and down only 2.6 per cent from three weeks ago, the weekly journal of metalworking said.

Steel finishing is continuing almost unabated, and the let-up is primarily in ingot production, Steel said. "Ordering by the automotive industry has not been up to the level steel companies had expected," the magazine added.

"It's becoming apparent that automakers will operate on narrow inventories while they appraise sales prospects for 1967 models," Steel said. And building construction requirements are beginning to slow seasonally.

A growing tonnage of steel is going into defense business indirectly, although direct defense orders take only 2 to 4 per cent of production, steelmakers reported to the magazine.

Service centers are buying actively, with accent on plates, structurals and other heavy products, Steel said.

"The U. S. Steel industry is faring better than some producers abroad," the magazine noted. "West German and other European mills reportedly have a significant amount of unbooked capacity."

The magazine's 31-member panel of economic consultants issued its fall prediction of upcoming business conditions and forecast 1967's business topping this year, but with a lightly slackened growth rate.

The panel predicted gross national product would gain 6 per cent, against an 8 per cent gain this year; capital spending will persist with wholesale prices rising 2.5 per cent against an expected 3.4 per cent rise in 1966.

"About two-thirds of the panelists look for steel ingot output to decline to 132 million tons next year, following this year's estimated 134 million net tons," Steel said.

Steel's composite on No. 1 heavy melting grade scrap was down 17 cents last week to $28.33 a ton, due chiefly to a decline at the Pittsburgh market.

Thailand Preps For LBJ Visit

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — At the king's command, Thailand is preparing for President Johnson the best reception ever accorded a visiting chief of state.

Prime Minister Thanom Kiti-kachon said today King Bhunibol Adulyadej has directed that the program of the Johnson visit be improved over those for previous heads of state who

The World Today

By WALTER R. MEARS
WASHINGTON (AP) — In sum, the latest prescription offered by Republican policymakers to deal with the war in Viet Nam adds up to two words: fight harder.

It was offered with congressional elections a month away, and with GOP pollsters reporting that the war is the No. 1 concern of American voters.

Republicans clearly have concluded that concern can be translated into votes on Nov. 8.

Their polls indicate a substantial bloc of undecided voters. And their strategy indicates they believe that pronouncements calling for victory in a frustrating Asian war could help GOP candidates attract some of those voters.

Some GOP strategists believe that voter frustration over the complex war situation will work against incumbents in the coming election, regardless of their party.

If that is the outcome, come-back-seeking Republicans will benefit, simply because they have fewer incumbents than the Democrats.

One major unknown factor: The impact of President Johnson's 2½-week Asian tour which will end only six days before the election.

It will include the two-day Manila summit conference where Johnson will meet the leaders of six nations helping to fight Communist forces in Viet Nam. The Republican coordinating committee tempered its hawk-like pronouncement on the war by endorsing that conference as a potential avenue toward peace.

But Senate Republican Leader

Everett M. Dirksen served notice that the GOP expects an accounting of that mission — "and we expect results."

Dirksen said he thinks the voters will expect results, too.

Having endorsed the Manila conference — and noted that Republicans weeks ago urged an all-Asian conference on Viet Nam — the coordinating committee declared: "We insist that every practicable step toward winning the war be taken in support of the thousands now engaged in deadly combat."

The committee's last major pronouncement on Viet Nam — issued on Dec. 13, 1965 — included some specific advice to Johnson. It called for imposition of a naval quarantine, like that once imposed against Cuba, to bar supplies from North Viet Nam. And it urged greater use of air and sea power against military targets in the Communist North, to lessen the need for more U.S. ground forces in the South.

This time, the Republicans offered only general counsel, not specific steps. Former New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, discussing the paper turned out under his guidance, said it is up to Johnson and the Joint Chiefs of Staff to decide exactly what must be done.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has underscored the party position in a series of statements, promising to support whatever steps Johnson finds necessary in Viet Nam — and saying: "We must do whatever is necessary to win as quickly as possible."

In general, the Republican position all along has been one of support for Johnson's war program — with peripheral criticism considered in bounds.

Decrease Seen In Cotton Crop

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department today estimated this year's cotton crop at 10,688,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight, down 2.8 per cent from last month's forecast.

The September estimate was 10,992,000 bales. The new figure compares with 14,956,000 last year and 14,795,000 for the five-year (1960-64) average.

Production was cut sharply this year under a government program offering growers substantial payments for reducing plantings. This program was promoted by the accumulation of a record reserve and surplus supply of 16.9 million bales.

The shortened crop is expected to make room for upwards of 4 million bales of this oversupply.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, Oct. 11, the 284th day of 1966. There are 81 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1776, the Colonials under Benedict Arnold were defeated by the British in the first official naval battle of the Revolution, fought off Valcour Island in Lake Champlain.

On this date: In 1811, the first steam ferry line in the world was established between New York City and Hoboken, N.J.

In 1939, the British and the Soviets concluded a trade treaty.

In 1941, the Russians evacuated women and children from Moscow as Nazi troops drove toward the Soviet capital.

In 1944, American guns began to pound Aachen after the Nazi troops holding the town turned down a surrender ultimatum.

In 1946, Sarah Gibson Blanding was installed as the first woman president of Vassar College.

Ten years ago—A U.S. military transport plane, en route to the U.S. from Lakenheath, England, was lost in the eastern Atlantic with 49 Air Force and Navy men aboard.

Five years ago — President Kennedy announced he was sending his special military adviser, Gen. Maxwell Taylor, to South Viet Nam to determine the most effective means of helping the Saigon regime of Ngo Dinh Diem defend his country against Communist aggression.

One year ago — President Johnson took his first steps unassisted since his gall bladder operation. His doctors said his recovery was continuing on schedule.

Forquer, Davidson Vows Read at St. Joseph Church

MRS. LLOYD DAVIDSON

Miss Madelyn Carol Forquer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Forquer, Ashville, became the bride of Lloyd Davidson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arch Davidson, Lockbourne, during an 11 a. m. service on Sept. 17, in St. Joseph Catholic Church.

The Rev. Father William Metzger officiated at the ceremony before an altar decked with vases of white gladioli and snow drift pompos and baskets of white fugi mums and gladioli.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her wedding a gown of white Angel mist and chantilly lace. The princess bodice of chantilly lace was fashioned with a portrait neckline and chapel sleeves. The three-tiered bouffant skirt of organza mist was accented with lace. A peacock chapel train flowed from Dior bows at the shoulders to form the back interest.

Her veil of silk illusion draped over a silk rose crown and she carried a cascading bouquet of snow drift pompos, stephanotis, and ivy foliage centered with a gold throated white orchid.

Miss Diane Custer, friend of the bride, was the honor attendant. Her floor length gown was styled with an empire bodice of turquoise velvet, a round neck and elbow sleeves accented with ruffled ruffles. The aqua sheath silhouette of Chiffon over taffeta was completed with a satin band and bow. The head piece was a cluster of velvet roses and a pouf veil.

The bridesmaids were Terry Trimble, Ashville, and Rosemarie Settnek, Columbus. They wore identical gowns to the honor attendant in shades of gold velvet and yellow chiffon. Their cascading bouquets were of yellow and rust pompos centered around a fugi mum.

Mother of the bride was attired in a blue lace dress. Mrs. Davidson, mother of the groom, wore a gold suit.

Gary Hoover, Ashville, was best man for Mr. Davidson. Michael Rogers, Richard Settnek, both of Columbus, and Michael Forquer, brother of the bride, served as ushers.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony at the Ashville Methodist Church. The bride is a graduate of Teays Valley High School and is employed as a secretary at the Huntington National Bank, Columbus.

The groom is a graduate of Walnut Twp. High School and is employed at Circleville's General Electric Lamp Plant.

After a motor trip through the east, the new Mr. and Mrs. Davidson are residing at 230½ Long St., Ashville.

Mrs. Rodenfels Honored with Baby Shower

Mrs. Thomas Rodenfels was honored with a baby shower in the home of Mrs. Charles Schiemann, 345 Sunset Drive. Mrs. Rusty Vaughn was the co-hostess.

Games were played and won by Mrs. Thomas Rodenfels and Mrs. Howard Eisenbrey.

A dessert course was served to Mrs. Eisenbrey, Mrs. Bill Halstunberg, Mrs. Paul Rodenfels and Mrs. Paul Smallwood.

Gifts were sent by Mrs. Ralph Amey, Mrs. Richard Davis, Mrs. Carl Hawks, Mrs. Milton Davis, Mrs. Larry Priest, Miss Martha Davis and Miss Eloise Hanley.

AAUW President Speaks At Meet of Local Group

Dr. Blanche H. Dow, president of the American Association of University Women, was guest speaker at a Fall Workshop of the Ohio Division at Fort Hayes Hotel with 80 Branches present.

The Circleville Branch was represented by Mrs. Richard Fisher, president; Mrs. John Barry, Mrs. J. L. Chilcote, Mrs. Robert Rustin, Mrs. C. Thomas Sackinger, and Mrs. Leora Sayre.

Discussion topics on the round table included The Arts in Ohio, Community Problems in Ohio, World Affairs, Education in Ohio, Programs in Progress in Ohio and General Association Concerns.

"Expanding Our Horizons" was the topic of Dr. Dow's address. She stressed the fact that our education is never ending and that it is and must be more than text books, diplomas and degrees. She stated that it is that which expresses itself in the leadership, in the example, in the total life of an educated person.

Dr. Dow asked each member do something significant in her community. She stated that we have a duty to respond to the 3 R's of education which might be thought of as realization, response and relinquishment. She said an expanded horizon makes us a part of the world. She also said that no man or no woman is an island alone; we are a part of all mankind.

Dr. Dow summarized her thoughts saying "Where are we, who are trained to be leaders; where are we going with our world?"

Mercy Supplies Due for Storage

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Students from an El Paso parochial high school begin unloading today 10 boxcars of supplies donated by Lafayette, La., residents for the Tarahumara Indians of northern Mexico.

The goods, including food, clothing, medicine, tools and other items, have been refused entry into Mexico by the Mexican government.

A representative for Lafayette residents, El Paso attorney Joseph Rey, said the goods would be stored in a warehouse pending another appeal for a permit to take the goods across the border.

The supplies were donated after a Roman Catholic priest reported that the Tarahumaras were suffering from malnutrition. The Mexican government said it could adequately care for the tribe.

Mercy Supplies Due for Storage

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Students from an El Paso parochial high school begin unloading today 10 boxcars of supplies donated by Lafayette, La., residents for the Tarahumara Indians of northern Mexico.

The goods, including food, clothing, medicine, tools and other items, have been refused entry into Mexico by the Mexican government.

A representative for Lafayette residents, El Paso attorney Joseph Reid, said the goods would be stored in a warehouse pending another appeal for a permit to take the goods across the border.

The supplies were donated after a Roman Catholic priest reported that the Tarahumaras were suffering from malnutrition. The Mexican government said it could adequately care for the tribe.

Irish Slip into Second Spot Behind Powerful Spartans

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Notre Dame crept into the second spot behind Michigan State in this week's Associated Press college football poll, but the Irish probably will have to wait until Nov. 19 for a chance to overtake the Spartans.

Notre Dame, third last week, led a shuffling of the places behind the Spartans by garnering 15 first place votes for 353 points after trouncing Army 35-0. Michigan State had 18 top votes and 369 points.

The Irish, 3-0, are expected to get by such teams as North Carolina, Oklahoma and Navy which could make their clash with the Spartans Nov. 19. Michigan State, 4-0, after handling Michigan 20-7, will be the choice to beat Purdue, No. 5, and some lesser lights in the Big Ten.

Waiting for either to slip will be Alabama, 3-0, which whopped Clemson 26-0 to move up a notch to third in its quest for a third straight national title.

UCLA, runner-up a week ago, rumbled to fourth after barely nipping Rice 27-24.

The national panel of 40 sports writers and broadcasters moved Southern California and Nebraska each up a place to fifth and sixth, although the Trojans had trouble beating Washington 17-14. The Cornhuskers romped at Wisconsin 1-3.

Georgia Tech, 4-0, which dropped Tennessee, eighth last week, out of the Top Ten by beating the Volunteers 6-3, and Florida, 22-19 winner over Florida State, each jumped two places to seventh and eighth. Florida is 4-0.

Arkansas, fifth last week, also dropped out of sight after losing to Baylor 7-0, and the Bears, 3-1, used the victory to grab the 10th spot. Purdue's 35-0 triumph over Iowa gave it ranking with a 3-1 record.

Points are awarded on a basis of 10 for first place, 9 for second, etc.

Bauer Is Named Manager of Year

By GORDON BEARD
BALTIMORE (AP) — Hank Bauer, surprised when his Baltimore Orioles won the World Series in a four-game sweep over the Los Angeles Dodgers, was not exactly astonished to be named American League Manager of the Year.

Bauer knows that capturing the pennant is almost tantamount to winning the award, although he led in the annual Associated Press balloting in 1964 after Baltimore finished third.

In the 1966 balloting by 380 baseball writers, Bauer was an overwhelming choice. He received 321 votes to 53 for runner-up Alvin Dark of the Kansas City Athletics.

"I believe I did a better job this year," Bauer said. "Because of injuries, I had to revise a lot of things we planned on, but we still went on to win. I had to do a lot of juggling with the pitchers."

Bauer used his bullpen crew effectively in support of starting pitchers who completed only 23 games all season.

Bauer, who previously managed at Kansas City for 1½ years, took over the Orioles in 1964. Baltimore finished third during their first two seasons under the 44-year-old former New York Yankees' outfielder.

Before the start of the World Series last week, Bauer was signed to a new two-year contract calling for about $50,000 a year.

Bauer said he never contemplated a managerial career—expecting to finish up in baseball as a coach—but jumped at the chance when offered the job by Charles O. Finley, owner of the Kansas City Athletics.

Asked last week to name the Manager of the Year, excluding himself from consideration, Bauer selected Dark for directing Kansas City to a seventh-place finish.

Lafayette holds a 59-37 edge in its football series with Lehigh. Five games ended in ties. The series began in 1884.

Wilmington Back Leads SCO Scoring

Steve Dade's 14 Rank Fourth in Loop Point Parade

Gary Scott of Wilmington took over the scoring lead in the South Central Ohio League last week when he scored three touchdowns against Hillsboro and added a two point conversion.

In two league games, the speedy scatback has now notched a total of 24 points. His teammate, Skip Davis, shares second place in the league scoring race with three touchdowns to his credit, for an 18-point total.

Also credited with 18 points is Brown of Washington C. H., who scored all three of the Blue Lions TDs against Hillsboro.

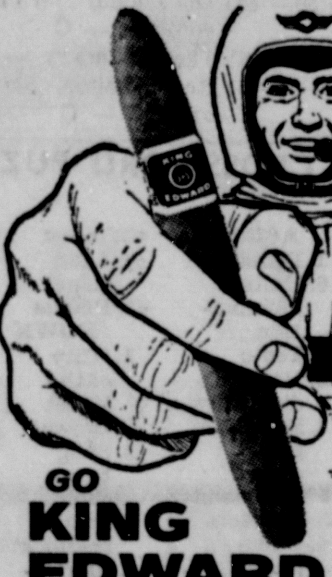

Circleville's Steve Dade scored two touchdowns in the first league game and added a two point conversion last week for a total of 14 points.

Three league gridgers have scored two touchdowns. They are Ron Bryant of Circleville, Floyd Beckman of Hillsboro and Mike Henry of Miami Trace.

Credited with one touchdown are Butch Walker of Greenfield, Bev Lee of Miami Trace, Eddie Wells of Circleville and Bill Peelle of Wilmington.

Rounding out the scoring in the league are Ed Shidaker of Wilmington with four points and Jim Kenninger of Greenfield with two points.

Bill Gates of Circleville nailed Eddie Summers in the end zone for a two point safety last week.

Woody Will Need Miracle When Spartans Invade OSU

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Woody Hayes, who somehow manages to come up with one miracle a season, needs just that against this week's foe.

Mighty Michigan State, the No. 1 ranked team in the country, is Saturday's opposition in Ohio Stadium.

The veteran Buckeye coach must have spent some restless nights over the weekend. No one knows for sure whether he developed a case of insomnia thinking about how his Bucks' lost to Illinois last Saturday, 10-9, or whether Woody is worried about how to make a game of it against the powerful Spartans.

"We were improved over the week before," Hayes told his weekly press luncheon Monday. "Our defense was better, our offense moved the ball better, but obviously we didn't improve enough. And we just didn't make enough points," he lamented.

Woody probably still is wondering how his Buckeyes pushed Illinois all over the field—and lost.

A "key play" against the Illini, according to Hayes, came in the third period with Ohio facing a third down and one situation on the Illinois five-yard line.

Quarterback Bill Long was smacked down for a two-yard loss on what Hayes called "a broken play." Apparently, fullback Paul Hudson was supposed to have lugged the ball but missed the signal. The Bucks, facing a fourth and three situation, got a three-pointer out of Gary Cairns to take a 9-3 lead but a touchdown would have locked up the triumph.

Hayes was so shook by it all he didn't even mention Michigan State. But John Derbyshire, an assistant freshmen coach who scouted the Spartans, gave the press an earful.

"Their backfield is seasoned and tough to stop and their defense forces you to make mistakes," he noted.

The only new face in Coach

Duffy Daugherty's slick attack is quarterback Jim Raye, a junior, who has scrambled for 219 yards in 49 carries and scored three touchdowns. Raye also has hit 18 passes in 36 flips for 274 yards and three touchdowns. His big target is 6-foot-3 Gene Washington who has grabbed seven aerials for 235 yards and three scores.

The running backs are fast and brutal. Fullback Bob Apisa has 298 yards and four touchdowns in 49 cracks; right half Clinton Jones of Cleveland has rambled 232 yards in 55 tries for two tallies and right half Dwight Lee shows 143 yards in 28 rushes and one TD.

Michigan State, which leads Ohio 4-2 in the series and won a year ago easily, 32-7, has knocked off four straight foes.

Ohio, 1-2 on the season, faces the gloomy prospect of losing its third straight for the first time since the war year of 1943.

The Bucks reportedly are in good physical shape and quarter back Bill Long, who was bruised in the Illini battle, is ready to go.

Mighty-Mite Kicker Earns Fan Respect at Iowa State

AMES, Iowa (AP)—You really couldn't blame the 22,000 fans for roaring with laughter here Saturday when Dave Spealler, who stands all of 5-foot-5 and weighs a strapping 126 pounds, trotted into the football field to kick off for Iowa State against Kansas.

And wearing blue shorts, yet. But hilarity yielded to respect as the 21-year-old sophomore rammed the ball off the side of his foot soccer style in a boot that sailed deep into Jayhawk territory.

Spealler got off two more good kickoffs, score! a 36-yard field goal and succeeded on his only extra point attempt as the host Cyclones won 24-7 for their first victory of the season.

"I was so shook up when I went out there, I had no time to think what I was doing," the tiny youth admitted later.

Spealler, who said he just couldn't get used to the regulation knee-length football pants, was otherwise attired in regulation helmet, jersey and shoulder pads.

Football, naturally enough, was the last thing on the soft-spoken youth's mind when he enrolled at Iowa State after a respectable career of track and as an all-state soccer selection at Lower Merion High School of Wynnewood, Pa.

When Iowa State began having trouble getting good distance on kickoffs this season, defensive halfback Cal Lewis and defensive end Jim Cunningham persuaded Spealler as a fellow member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity to give it a try.

Coach Clay Stapleton understandably had his doubts when he first laid eyes on the diminutive student.

But although his only experience booting an oval-shaped ball had been backyard stuff, Spealler immediately commenced hitting the end zone in kickoff practice.

What happens if an opposing player gets past the other Iowa State players, on a kickoff and Spealler in his gym shorts finds a 200-pound ball carrier bearing down on him?

"Well, I'm supposed to tackle him," the undersized youth replied simply.

"I don't know how successful I'd be. Frankly, I'm just praying nobody gets past them. He'd probably take me with him."

Just in case a little extra padding might be needed, Spealler is trying, his week to get used to wearing long pants.

Irish Slip into Second Spot Behind Powerful Spartans

By MIKE RECHT Associated Press Sports Writer Notre Dame crept into the second spot behind Michigan State in this week's Associated Press college football poll, but the Irish probably will have to wait until Nov. 19 for a chance to overtake the Spartans.

Notre Dame, third last week, led a shuffling of the places behind the Spartans by garnering 15 first place votes for 353 points after trouncing Army 35-0. Michigan State had 18 top votes and 369 points.

The Irish, 3-0, are expected to get by such teams as North Carolina, Oklahoma and Navy which could make their clash with the Spartans Nov. 13. Michigan State, 4-0, after handling Michigan 20-7, will be the choice to beat Purdue, No. 5, and some lesser lights in the Big Ten.

Waiting for either to slip will be Alabama, 3-0, which whopped Clemson 26-0 to move up a notch to third in its quest for a third straight national title.

UCLA, runner-up a week ago, rumbled to fourth after barely nipping Rice 27-24.

The national panel of 40 sports writers and broadcasters moved Southern California and Nebraska each up a place to fifth and sixth, although the Trojans had trouble beating Washington 17-14. The Cornhuskers romped at Wisconsin 1-3.

Georgia Tech, 4-0, which dropped Tennessee, eighth last week, out of the Top Ten by beating the Volunteers 6-3, and Florida, 22-19 winner over Florida State, each jumped two places to seventh and eighth. Florida is 4-0.

Steubenville Still Leads Grid Poll

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Unbeaten Steubenville took a commanding lead today for top honors in the weekly Associated Press high school football poll.

The Big Red walloped Cincinnati Taft last week 42-16 en route to their fifth straight victory and piled up 155 poll points.

Sandusky, a 20-12 victory over Lorain Senior, held second place but by a scant two points. Sandusky polled 112 compared to Niles' 110.

The Red Dragons, also 5-0, moved up from fourth place with a comeback 20-12 triumph over rugged Massillon knocking the Tigers from third to fifth place.

Two teams dropped from the top ten as upsets marked last weekend's play. Mansfield Senior, No. 7, was 20-14 victim of Lorain Admiral King and No. 8 Lima Senior bowed to Hamilton Garfield 41-0. That shot Garfield all the way from 14th to sixth place.

Others who made the elite circle were Upper Arlington, 5-0 fourth; Warren Harding, 4-1, seventh; Columbus Watersport, 5-0, eighth; Cincinnati Elder, 4-0, ninth and Mansfield Madison 5-0, No. 10.

In the Class A ratings, Marion Catholic garnered 69 points for top honors, some 31 points more than second place Millersport. Piketon was third followed by Brookville, Portsmouth Notre Dame, Versailles, Berne Union, Dover St. Joseph, Clear Fork, River Valley, Columbus Academy and New Albany.

Versailles and Berne Union tied for sixth while the latter three schools deadlocked for tenth place.

All the clubs have 5-0 records except Portsmouth Notre Dame which is 4-0 and Dover St. Joe which has a 3-2 record, including an 8-6 setback to Marion Catholic in the opener for both.

Scholastic sidelights -- Niles, whipping Massillon for the first time ever, raled 12-0 with only five minutes remaining but rallied for the decision. The Red Dragons are unbeaten at home in seven years.

Don Osby, a junior halfback, scored four touchdowns for Steubenville in the romp over Cincinnati Taft.

Don Young of Winterville also scored four times in his team's victory over Cambridge boosting his season total to 13 and his point total to 92.

Versailles, ranked No. 6 in Class A, handed previously unbeaten Ansonia a 60-0 thrashing last Friday. No 4 rated Brookville, which plays practically an all Class AA schedule, registered four straight shutouts before yielding 12 points last week.

Tim Grady, Marion Catholic's 130-pound fullback, rushed for 181 yards in his team's 28-3 win over Oleantangy. The Irish now boast a 21-game winning streak.

Something had to give last Friday when Liberty - Salem, with a 12-game losing skid, met Bradford, which was working on a 23-game losing string.

Bradford won 14-6 with the losing Tigers having an 80-yard touchdown play nullified by a penalty.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Here are the Class AA ratings in the Associated Press poll of Ohio's high school football

Dallas Coach Thinks Highly Of Brownies

CLEVELAND (AP) — A few people had things to say about each other—most of it nice—as the Cleveland Browns started a two week layoff and the Dallas Cowboys aimed for the St. Louis Cardinals.

Browns' defensive end Paul Wiggins talked about the Cowboys, Cleveland's opponent Oct. 23, and Dallas Coach Tom Landry had a few things to say about the Browns.

Wiggins also commented on Leroy Kelly to the Touchdown Club Monday and Kelly, at another speaking engagement, said he copied some of his running style from former Cleveland great Jim Brown.

"Our rush must be good," Wiggins said. "The best pass defense is getting plenty of pressure on (Dallas quarterback) Don Meredith."

Meredith, who will be practicing his trade in a game against the Cardinals Sunday, twice has thrown five touchdown passes in a single game this season—against the Philadelphia Eagles and New York Giants.

In Dallas, Landry said of the National Football League's Eastern Division race:

"I still maintain that the Browns are as good as any team in the East. The division winner probably will lose as many as three games. Cleveland has lost two but I don't think that means the Browns won't be one of the teams to beat for the championship."

St. Louis has a 5-0 record and the Cowboys are 4-0, while the Browns have a 3-2 mark.

Wiggins said of Kelly:

"He is one of the most exciting runners I've ever seen. Like Brown, both Leroy and Ernie Green are leaders by doing. They have been coming through with that great second effort."

Kelly, the NFL's top rusher with 465 yards (5.5 yard average), said he has tried to copy Brown's style on the pitchout play.

"Jim had great form," he said. "He snapped that head fast and would run right around that defensive end. I've watched films to try and pick up some of his other techniques, too."

Kelly said his favorite plays are ones in which the guards pull out and he has the option to sweep or cut up into the line.

PCC Men Hold Annual Fall Roundup

The men of the Pickaway Country Club held their annual fall golf roundup Saturday with 88 players participating.

Dean MacFadden fired the low gross score for the 18 hole event with Maynard Eaton second.

Low net was carded by C. Conrad. Luther Ferrell was second.

The longest drive on the fifth hole was hit by Eaton. The golfer who was closest to the pin on the par 3 second hole was Jack Olson while Dean MacFadden was closest to the pin on the par three eighth hole.

The blind bogey was shared by Lee Cook, George Brown and Dave Timmons.

Door prizes were won by C. Paul, Ned Cartmille, John Payne, Wendell Christy, John Vendilinski, J. Kirkwood, Bob Fore, M. Spangler, W. Brehmer, C. Hoover, D. Riddle, Howie Davis, Jerry Bender, Dr. J. M. Hedges, Carl Heffelfinger, Jim Dancy, Lyle Bookman, D. Sherman, Terry Sloan, Bob MacFadden, Luther Ferrell, Dean MacFadden, Vern Hawkes, D. Robbins, Dave Hoffman, Art Cross, Rudy Chelkowsky, D. Hutton, George Brown, F. Williams, Dusty Rhoades, Luther Bower, D. Photos, Bill Shockey, Maynard Eaton and J. Rust.

Terry Dilts, Pickaway Country Club Pro, said that those who had not picked up their door prizes could get them from Tuesday until Sunday. The new shop at the country club will be open 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. during the week.

Steubenville Still Leads Grid Poll

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Unbeaten Steubenville took a commanding lead today for top honors in the weekly Associated Press high school football poll.

The Big Red walloped Cincinnati Taft last week 42-16 en route to their fifth straight victory and piled up 155 poll points.

Sandusky, a 20-12 victory over Lorain Senior, held second place but by a scant two points. Sandusky polled 112 compared to Niles' 110.

The Red Dragons, also 5-0, moved up from fourth place with a comeback 20-12 triumph over rugged Massillon knocking the Tigers from third to fifth place.

Two teams dropped from the top ten as upsets marked last weekend's play. Mansfield Senior, No. 7, was 20-14 victim of Lorain Admiral King and No. 8 Lima Senior bowed to Hamilton Garfield 41-0. That shot Garfield all the way from 14th to sixth place.

Others who made the elite circle were Upper Arlington, 5-0 fourth; Warren Harding, 4-1, seventh; Columbus Wattersen, 5-0, eighth; Cincinnati Elder, 4-0, ninth and Mansfield Madison 5-0, No. 10.

In the Class A ratings, Marion Catholic garnered 69 points for top honors, some 31 points more than second place Millersport. Piketon was third followed by Brookville, Portsmouth Notre Dame, Versailles, Berne Union, Dover St. Joseph, Clear Fork, River Valley, Columbus Academy and New Albany.

Versailles and Berne Union tied for sixth while the latter three schools deadlocked for tenth place.

All the clubs have 5-0 records except Portsmouth Notre Dame which is 4-0 and Dover St. Joe which has a 3-2 record, including an 8-6 setback to Marion Catholic in the opener for both.

Scholastic sidelights -- Niles, whipping Massillon for the first time ever, raled 12-0 with only five minutes remaining but rallied for the decision. The Red Dragons are unbeaten at home in seven years.

Don Osby, a junior halfback, scored four touchdowns for Steubenville in the romp over Cincinnati Taft.

Don Young of Winterville also scored four times in his team's victory over Cambridge boosting his season total to 13 and his point total to 92.

Versailles, ranked No. 6 in Class A, handed previously unbeaten Ansonia a 50-0 thrashing last Friday. No. 4 rated Brookville, which plays practically an all Class AA schedule, registered four straight shutouts before yielding 12 points last week.

Tim Grady, Marion Catholic's 150-pound fullback, rushed for 181 yards in his team's 28-3 win over Olentangy. The Irish now boast a 21-game winning streak.

Something had to give last Friday when Liberty - Salem, with a 12-game losing skid, met Bradford, which was working on a 28-game losing string.

Bradford won 14-6 with the losing Tigers having an 80-yard touchdown play nullified by a penalty.

Dallas Coach Thinks Highly Of Brownies

CLEVELAND (AP) — A few people had things to say about each other—most of it nice—as the Cleveland Browns started a two week layoff and the Dallas Cowboys aimed for the St. Louis Cardinals.

Browns' defensive end Paul Wiggins talked about the Cowboys, Cleveland's opponent Oct. 23, and Dallas Coach Tom Landry had a few things to say about the Browns.

Wiggins also commented on Leroy Kelly to the Touchdown Club Monday and Kelly, at another speaking engagement, said he copied some of his running style from former Cleveland great Jim Brown.

"Our rush must be good," Wiggins said. "The best pass defense is getting plenty of pressure on (Dallas quarterback) Don Meredith."

Meredith, who will be practicing his trade in a game against the Cardinals Sunday, twice has thrown five touchdown passes in a single game this season—against the Philadelphia Eagles and New York Giants.

In Dallas, Landry said of the National Football League's Eastern Division race:

"I still maintain that the Browns are as good as any team in the East. The division winner probably will lose as many as three games. Cleveland has lost two but I don't think that means the Browns won't be one of the teams to beat for the championship."

St. Louis has a 5-0 record and the Cowboys are 4-0, while the Browns have a 3-2 mark.

Wiggins said of Kelly:

"He is one of the most exciting runners I've ever seen. Like Brown, both Leroy and Ernie Green are leaders by doing. They have been coming through with that great second effort."

Kelly, the NFL's top rusher with 465 yards (5.5 yard average), said he has tried to copy Brown's style on the pitchout play.

"Jim had great form," he said. "He snapped that head fast and would run right around that defensive end. I've watched films to try and pick up some of his other techniques, too."

Kelly said his favorite plays are ones in which the guards pull out and he has the option to sweep or cut up into the line.

PCC Men Hold Annual Fall Roundup

The men of the Pickaway Country Club held their annual fall golf roundup Saturday with 88 players participating.

Dean MacFadden fired the low gross score for the 18 hole event with Maynard Eaton second.

Low net was carded by C. Conrad, Luther Ferrell was second.

The longest drive on the fifth hole was hit by Eaton. The golfer who was closest to the pin on the par 3 second hole was Jack Olson while Dean MacFadden was closest to the pin on the par three eighth hole.

The blind bogey was shared by Lee Cook, George Brown and Dave Timmons.

Door prizes were won by C. Paul, Ned Cartmille, John Payne, Wendell Christy, John Vendilinski, J. Kirkwood, Bob Fore, M. Spangler, W. Brehmer, C. Hoover, D. Riddle, Howie Davis, Jerry Bender, Dr. J. M. Hedges, Carl Heffelfinger, Jim Dancy, Lyle Bookman, D. Sherman, Terry Sloan, Bob MacFadden, Luther Ferrell, Dean MacFadden, Vern Hawkes, D. Robbins, Dave Hoffman, Art Cross, Rudy Chelkowsky, D. Hutton, George Brown, F. Williams, Dusty Rhoades, Luther Bower, D. Phelps, Bill Shockley, Maynard Eaton and J. Rust.

Terry Dilts, Pickaway Country Club Pro, said that those who had not picked up their door prizes could get them from Tuesday until Sunday. The pro shop at the country club will be open 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. during the week.

Weathermen Bid Farewell to Inez

MIMAI, Fla. (AP)—As Hurricane Inez whirled toward her death over Mexico today, U.S. weathermen waved a thankful goodbye to the most unpredictable storm ever to come screeching at them out of the tropics.

Inez wasn't the most wicked, and she wasn't in the hair of the forecasters as long as some — although it seemed like it.

But it took every trick of the inexact science of hurricane forecasting — and maybe just a little bit of luck — to call the shots on her.

It was 18 long, uneasy days from the time a U.S. weather satellite snapped the first picture of Inez off the west coast of Africa Sept. 23 until she smashed ashore in Mexico.

Inez did what the forecasters said she would do until she hit Cuba. After that, her moves were contrary to almost every expectation.

Never before had a hurricane whipped into a hairpin turn so close to Florida that gale winds were already beating at the coast. Others had looped well out in the Atlantic, giving ample time for warnings to newly threatened areas.

No hurricane ever traveled straight down the chain of Florida Keys, bringing every little island into the weird calmness of her eye.

And none ever came from Florida to travel west-southwest to Mexico's Yucatan Peninsula.

Considering all these capers, the Weather Bureau emerged with a good record, Guadeloupe, the Dominican Republic, Haiti, Cuba, and Mexico — every target area but Florida — had 36 hours warning.

No Legislative Meet Seen On Welfare Clothing Plea

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes has no intention of calling a special legislative session to comply with renewed demands for a winter clothing fund for children of welfare recipients, according to his executive assistant, John McElroy.

About 100 white and Negro men and women from major Ohio cities converged on the governor's office Monday to press demands for $100-a-year clothing grants for each welfare child.

McElroy talked with the intense but orderly group that surged around him in the corridor outside the governor's Statehouse office. Rhodes was out of town on the re-election campaign rail.

Calling McElroy's answers to questions evasive, several spokesmen all but shouted that Rhodes could not expect their votes.

When a man held up a sign reading "Vote Baby Vote," Mrs. Marian Hall of Akron, said with determination: "We goin' to do somethin' about that."

She acted as spokesman for representatives of the Ohio Steering Committee for Adequate Welfare which sponsored last summer's Cleveland-Columbus welfare march.

At that time, the governor and Welfare Director Denver White listened sympathetically to demands of marchers without offering to meet them.

McElroy, who termed it "rather silly" to converge on the governor's office knowing he was not there, said that only the legislature could make welfare appropriations.

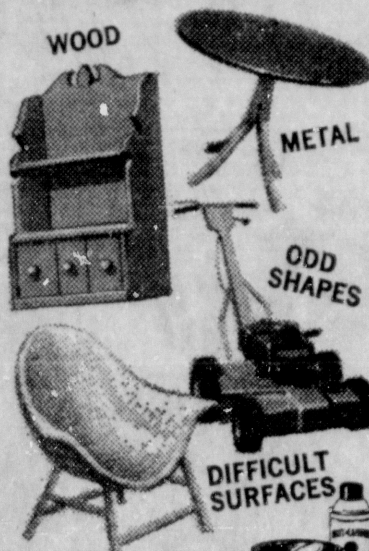

His observation drew irate replies that lawmakers are not slated to meet until next January and that school children need winter clothing before then.

Mrs. Cora Jones of Youngstown said the committee wants $100 a year for clothing for each child of welfare recipients.

She and Mrs. Hall said other cities represented at the futile meeting with McElroy included Cleveland, Canton, Dayton, Cincinnati, Lorain and Medina.

Alaska Is Proud Of Mrs. Kasko

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — The state of Alaska helped Jessie Kasko when she needed it. Over 20 years, her old age assistance payments came to $12,856.95.

Monday she handed Gov. William Egan a check for the full amount. She said she was acting in her Indian heritage by showing gratitude for favors received. The money came from sale of timber rights on recently inherited land.

The governor told Mrs. Kasko she was under no obligation to repay "but we are very, very proud of citizens like you."

Judge Sets Rules for Coming Trial

CLEVELAND (AP)—Common Pleas Court Judge Francis J. Talty has imposed tight restrictions on news coverage of Wednesday's hearing on a defense motion to move the second murder trial of Samuel H. Sheppard outside Cuyahoga County.

Judge Talty prohibited interviews with witnesses, attorneys, court employees, police and county law enforcement officials "before, during and after" the hearing and issued no credentials to out-of-town newsmen.

Seats were assigned for 13 representatives of local newspapers and radio and television stations and the wire services in the courtroom, which seats about 60 persons.

The judge's journal entry Monday said it was "imperative that the court enter an order which will assure an environment of calmness and solemnity and be protective of the rights of the parties, public, witnesses, officials and news and communications media."

The U.S. Supreme Court in an opinion on the Sheppard case last June called the first trial 12 years ago "a bedlam." The high court, in upsetting Sheppard's conviction for second-degree murder, held that the one-time osteopath was deprived of a fair trial by prejudicial news accounts and courtroom commotion.

The original trial jury found Sheppard guilty of second-degree murder in the bludgeon slaying of his first wife, Marilyn. He served nearly 10 years on a life sentence before his attorneys won his release in 1964 and an order from a U.S. District Court judge for a new trial. The trial is scheduled to start next Tuesday.

Judge Talty's order prohibits: —Use of cameras, recording devices or registering devices in the courthouse. —The making of sketches or ink drawings at the hearing or in the courthouse. —Installation of any telephone or teleprinter equipment not in operation on or before Sep. 30. —Entering or leaving the courtroom during sessions, except during a recess. —The blocking of corridors or other access ways in the courthouse.

The only tire tailor-made for Spikes

GOODYEAR SAFETY SPIKE TIRES GIVE TWICE THE TRACTION ON ICE

GOODYEAR NATION-WIDE "NO LIMIT" GUARANTEE—No limit on months • No limit on miles • No limit on roads • No limit on speed • For the entire life of the tread • All new Goodyear Auto Tires are guaranteed against defects in workmanship and materials and normal road hazards, except repairable punctures • Auto tires used on trucks are excluded from the road hazard portion of this guarantee • If a Goodyear tire fails under this guarantee, any of more than $5,000 Goodyear dealers in the United States and Canada will make allowance on a new tire based on original tread depth remaining and Goodyear's printed "Exchange Price" current at the time of adjustment, not on the higher "No Trade-In Price."
